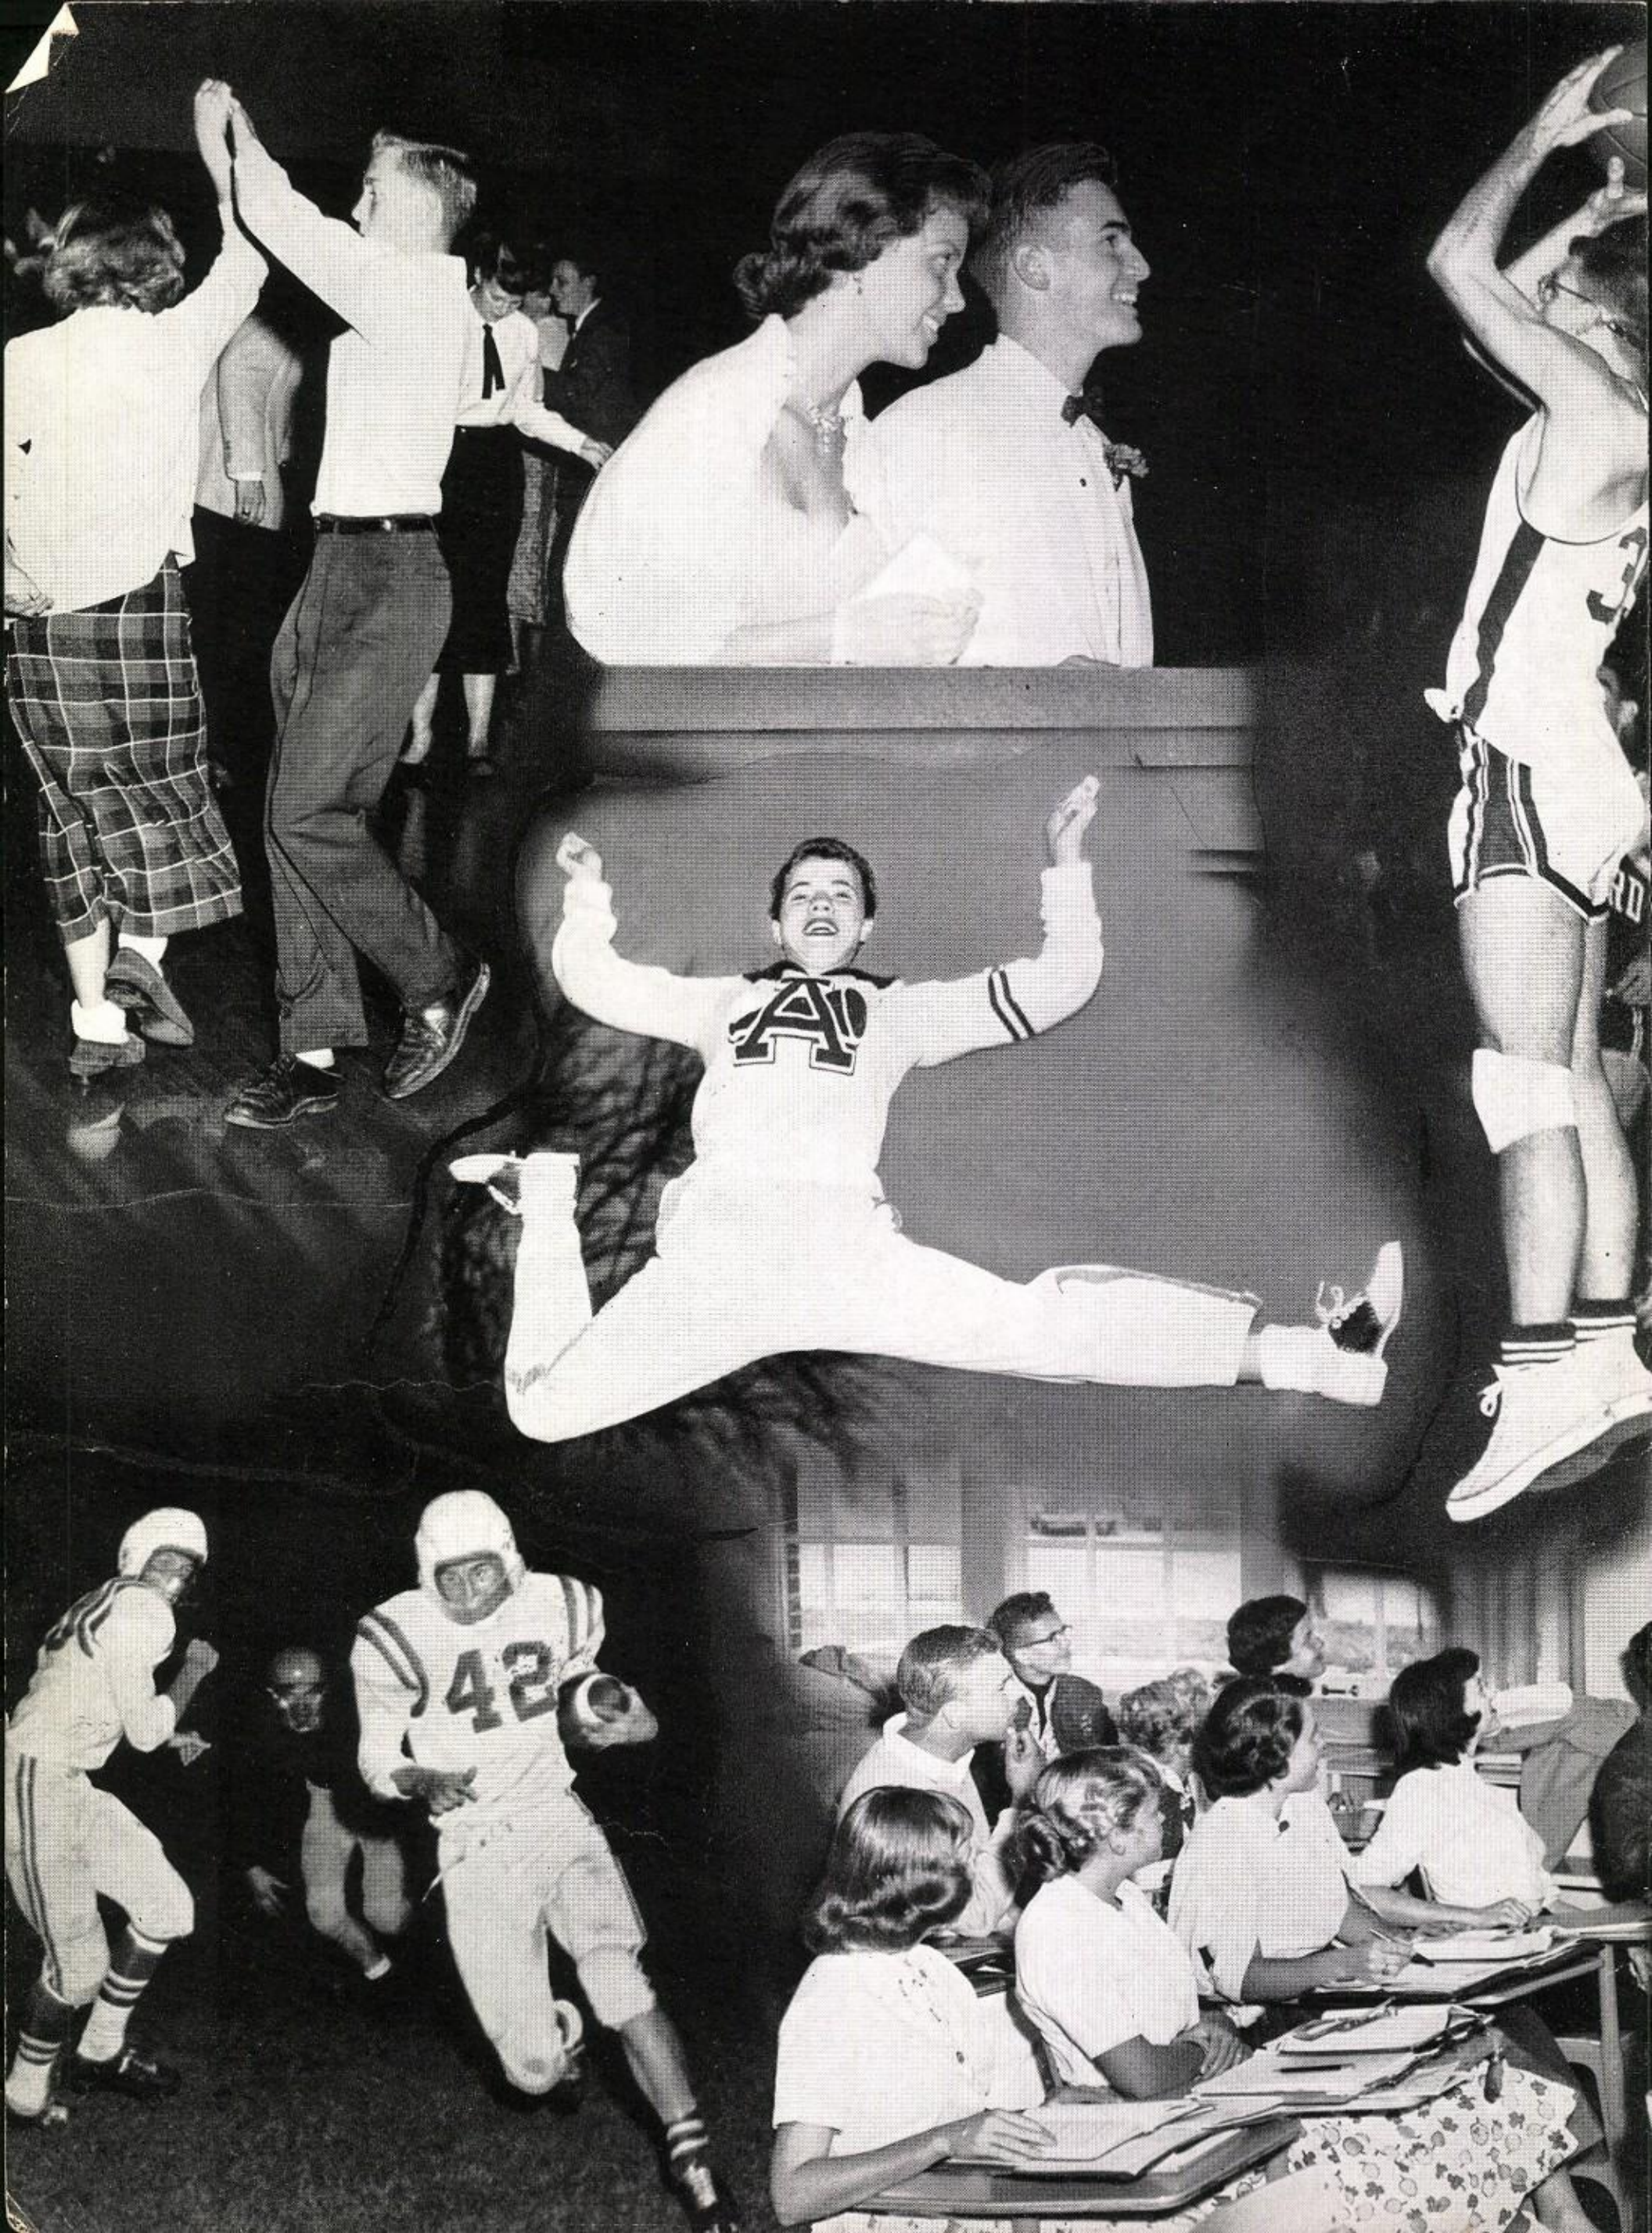
ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

Arlington Heights, Illinois



Introduction

Philosophers have recipes for happiness; businessmen have recipes for success; and believe it or not, even yearbook staffs have recipes for yearbooks. True, the basic ingredients for all yearbooks are the same—pictures and copy—but from then on the staff is on its own to blend and combine the ingredients as they see fit. A goal must be decided upon, and then a method of combining ingredients which will best achieve this end must be devised. The goal of the '57 HEIGHTS is informality—to present student life just as it was lived. To achieve this objective we decided to present the year chronologically—season by season. Just to have ingredients and a method for combining them, however, wasn't enough to make the yearbook complete. We added eye-catching pictures to whet the appetite, then seasoned with humor and just a touch of sadness. For "frosting" we added an appropriate cover. We followed our recipe, but the final test is up to you. Just as it is said, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," the proof of a yearbook is in the reading . . . . . .

"Gobble-uns'll git you ef you don't watch out." An eerie October evening lends atmosphere as five little gobblins enjoy bobbing for apples.

"Just cheering in the rain," Stan Norman, Carl Friberg, Barb Liiquist, Joyce Mitchell, and Maryann Fabian stand up for the kick-off.

FROSH WELCOMED

Eight hundred strong, the class of '60 marched into Arlington High, September 4. Maps in hand, they scurried through the halls, getting hooked on various wires, stepping into plaster and paint buckets, and discovering to their horror that the workmen had set up equipment in front of their lockers.

They soon became acquainted with the social life of the school at the freshman party, given by the Student Council the first weekend. Games, dancing, and refreshments highlighted the evening.

Two weeks after school started, the class elected from their homerooms a class board. Next in line came the first high school election for the freshmen, in which they chose as their class officers Richard Johnston, president; Carol Kasl, vice president; Nancy McComb, secretary; and Jane Hertel, treasurer.

Amid the sea of coats, boots, hats, and mittens at the coat-checking concessions, the freshman class again were working hard to serve the school during all home basketball games.

As the freshmen look back over the activities of the year, they may be asking themselves, "Did I really do that?" or saying, "I sure acted like a typical freshman!"

Frosh officers Nancy McComb, treasurer; Janie Hertel, secretary; Rick Johnston, president; and Carol Kasl, veep, enjoy a fall day.

"How do you spell Elvis?" inquires Sharon Lloyd of her companions as she signs a petition for a freshman class officer during lunch.

The pause that refreshes the frosh coat checkers is enjoyed by Jeff Layson as he checks latecomer Dee Dee Erickson's coat.

Waiting to appear in the Talent Show, frosh Vicky Lester, Ralph Roller, Ron Friend, Warren Myers, and Lorna Lide enjoy T.V.

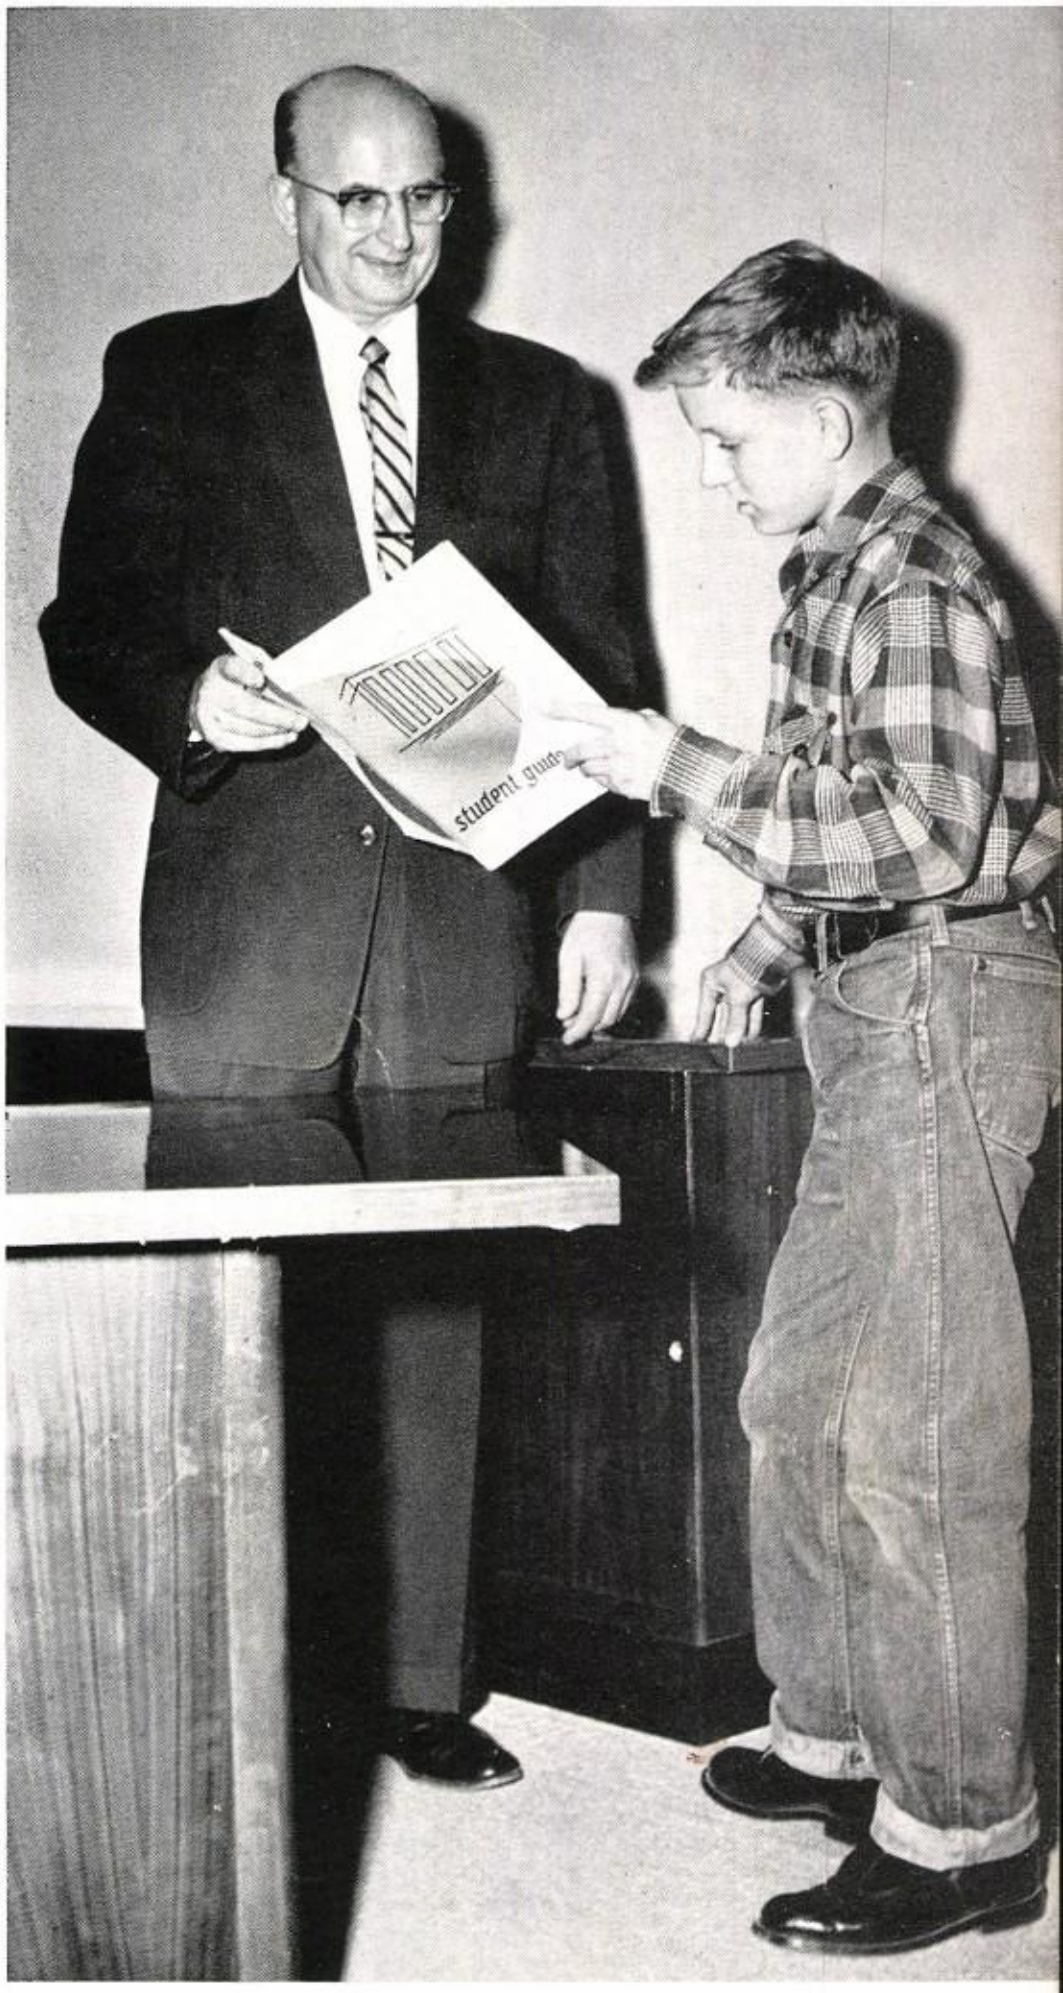
ADMINISTRATION LENDS HELPING HAND

Coming to high school on the first day was not as strange and bewildering to the freshmen as some upperclassmen would like to believe. Why not? Because the "freshies" had been given all the facts and figures about high school during the summer through an extensive program called "Freshman Orientation."

The Student Council orientation committee, headed by Jane Holloway, planned pre-school get-togethers for the last two weeks of August. Advised by student counselors, the freshmen had opportunities to ask questions and learn about Arlington High's social and academic life.

On Freshman Orientation Day the class of '60 became further acquainted with the teachers and students through speeches involving AH scholarship, athletics and activities.



Helping to make the frosh feel welcome at Arlington, Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer takes time out to chat with freshman Bob Ebel.

It's a long time from September to June, but Mr. Slichenmyer and Mr. Oliver face the new year with cheerful anticipation.

Providing leadership for the entire staff and making the best possible education program for the students was the main responsibility of Superintendent Harold Lee Slichenmyer, M.S., also the official representative of the Board of Education.

Administrative assistant Eugene Oliver, M.S., directed guidance activities and took charge of student enrollment, student records, and the extra-curricular program. As co-sponsor of Student Council, he worked with the Student Council Executive Board.

Dean Nelson Lowry, M.S., supervised student problems such as attendance and orientation of new students.

All business concerned with finances was supervised by John Schaff, M.A., who checked on maintenance and made provisions for transportation and night school.

In the shade of the old maple tree Mr. Lowry and Mr. Schaff check the last minute building details for the new high school addition

So you think you had a problem this year getting through crowded hallways and finding out-of-the-way rooms! Maybe it's reconciling to know that there were seven people who had even bigger problems connected with the school. This all-important group, to whom fell the difficult task of running Arlington High smoothly and efficiently, was the Board of Education.

President of the Board, Mr. George Sheppard, and the other six members met monthly to discuss the functions of the Board. Some of their duties were budgeting, providing the best equipment and staff possible, and shaping the general educational program of the school. This year members were particularly concerned with the future expansion of the AH district and the increasing population.

This IBM machine, inspected by Mr. Oliver and Mr. Lowry, may not produce $64,000, but it accounts for almost 64,000 grades a year.

SKY REVEALS PLANES, BUGS, STARS

Ranging from aeronautics to foreign languages, a full schedule of clubs has once again been offered to Arlington students and has included many different and interesting fields. In addition to working on projects and acquiring a better understanding of a specific field, students having the same interests had an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other.

One of the activities in which all the science clubs participated was the Junior Academy of Science. Students from grades seven through twelve were eligible to enter projects in the Academy, which was affiliated with the Illinois Academy of Science. In the spring students completed projects which consisted of collections, experiments, and original interpretations. Participants in the Junior Academy of Science first competed in district contests; the winners of these then competed for state honors.

"I feel a flight coming on!" might have been a student's feeling had he been a member of the Aeronautics Club. The thirty-six members, sponsored by Mr. Roberts, had as their high flying officers Jim Knollmuller, president; Ray Vesillus, vice-president; and Sandy Baker, secretary.

Seeing stars? Astronomy Club members did when they made night observations using the telescope made by some of the members. Under the direction of Mr. Dowell and Mr. Pumphrey, the chief star gazers were Jeff Hanor, president; Glenn Forster, vice-president; and Shirley Stadnick, secretary-treasurer.

Sponsored by Mr. Kemman, Mr. Kellogg, and Mr. Goins, the Biology Club under the leadership of George Sampson, Tip Yager, Bonnie Lippke, and George Sawyer spent much time and effort in preparation for the Junior Academy of Science, which met this year at Elmwood Park.

BUSHEL 'N A PECK

Competition in various state and regional contests gave the members of the Future Farmers of America trophies, ribbons, and individual awards. Livestock, grains, and other phases of farming were focal points of the judging at these contests. Recognition was also given to the boys at the Parent-Son Banquet in November, when those who had done outstanding work in the organization were given honorary degrees.

Even though a small percentage of FFA members did not live on farms, all were given opportunities to work on farms and enjoy rural life on weekends and during the summer. During school, vocational agriculture classes, in which learning the operation of farm equipment and studying soil types, conservation, and dairying were stressed, offered the boys experience in farm management.

COOKING WITH GAS

"The homes of tomorrow are in the hands of youth today," symbolized on the emblem of the Future Homemakers of America, denotes the purpose in sponsoring this organization at Arlington. The motto "Toward New Horizons" represented the goal toward which FHA members worked.

Composed of girls from each of the four classes who had previously taken or were taking a home economics course, the Future Homemakers of America centered this year's activities around child guidance in the home. In addition to enjoying a full schedule of field trips, outside speakers, charity work, and social get-togethers based on this theme, the girls also took charge of one basketball game concession to raise money for various projects.

One project which the club sponsored was sending one member, who was judged on her ability and interest in the group to Future Homemakers of America Camp.

A stitch in time is taken by Peg Terry, sophomore, as she hurries to complete several last minute details on her clothing project.

The Distributive Education work program was provided for upperclassmen interested in careers in the fields of buying, advertising, retailing, and displaying. D.E. students took two regular classes in the morning, attending special D.E. classes in the afternoon. After these classes they had a chance to apply the merchandising techniques learned through part-time jobs at local stores.

The Diversified Occupations program differed from the D.E. program in that it was available to juniors and seniors desiring special training in technical occupations. Besides their two regular subjects, D.O. students took a special class in machine work, involving such things as electricity, radios, and printing. After this class each student gained further instruction working at an outside job.

"This is more fun than a barrel of grease monkeys!" says Ron Holznagel as he greases a front axle of a car at his afternoon job.

MUSIC HAS CHARM

Audiences who saw "No, No, Nanette" definitely knew what William Congreve meant when he said that "music hath charm." The directors Miss Leick and Mr. Wolf, the cast and crew of the show, and the student orchestra combined efforts in producing this humorous operetta.

The student orchestra furnished the instrumental music for "No, No, Nanette," and the A Cappella Choir served as both the Chorus and the fifteen supporting characters. Dances, scattered throughout the show, were done by Orchesis.

In the talent and charm department Lola Hamm, Brenda Rudolph, Charlene Curatti, Linda Clemens, Linda Spratt, Gail Streich, and Judi Clabaugh portrayed the leading feminine characters. On the male side Dave Curtis, Bruce Burgess, and Eugene Freeman sang and joked their way through three acts of amusing complications.

Things are "buzzing" backstage as Lola Hamm and Buzz Burgess discuss their scripts at a rehearsal for the operetta, "No, No, Nanette."

Here Judy Bown, Barbara Gay, and Judie Fitz-Patrick, portray saucy French dolls, combining agility with graceful modern dance to lighten the show.

Heel and toe, a do-si-do, grab your hats, and away we go with Sandy Powell, Judy Peterson, and Sallee Hirst as they do a straw hat dance.

Twirlers Carol Oja, Sherry Warfsman, Bobbie Kalous, Judy Schmoyer, Dave Brooke, Sandy Peterson, Sue Shogren, June Hall, Bonnie Benson.

Orchesis and Twirlers worked in close conjunction with the music department. Orchesis, a modern dance group, was seen performing at half time at basketball games, pep assemblies, the Operetta, and the Christmas Assembly. The group, under the direction of Miss Bond, was composed of twenty-eight girls, chosen last spring through tryouts, from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. They had the opportunity to study various routines and modern dance techniques.

The eight twirlers, under the direction of Mr. Schmoyer, entertained at football and basketball games by demonstrating their skill in twirling. Marching with the band, they also had the chance to participate in High School Band Day and Homecoming at Northwestern University.

CLIMBING LADDER TO MUSICAL SUCCESS

"Practice makes perfect" was the motto of Arlington musicians, always seen participating in the musical productions. The Operetta, the Christmas Assembly, the Spring Concert, and the presentation of "The Messiah" were on this year's program for the orchestra and the concert band. Under the leadership of Frederick Schmoyer, the orchestra was composed of ten students playing stringed instruments, although extra instruments from the concert band were added once a week to make a full orchestra. In addition to playing for presentations, the concert band marched during half-times at football games.

To the thirty-six members of the Cadet Band, the meaning of the word practice became all too familiar. This intermediate training band, as well as the newly-formed German Band, was also led by Frederick Schmoyer. The German Band was formed to stimulate interest in a foreign country by playing German music and wearing German costumes.

Performing this year under the swinging baton of Mr. Martin Dahlberg, the dance band, which was composed of a rhythm section, five saxes, three trumpets, and three trombones, accompanied the acts in the 1957 talent show.

Autumn of 1956 was the beginning of a new athletic season. First to appear on the Arlington sports scene was football and cross-country. Football, with its split-second action, plus cross-country, with its breathtaking suspense, added up to moments that will live forever in the memories of Cardinal fans. Goal line stands, last second sprints, earth-shaking tackles, and touchdown runs were enough to thrill anyone.

This year's football and cross-country squads were led by frosh coaches "Tego" Larsen, Maurice Kellogg, and Russell Dowell; soph coaches William Beckman and Richard Mudge; varsity mentors "Bus" Ormsbee, Art Serfling, and Bob Scott; and cross-country leader Russ Attis.

Behind the scenes was the backbone of the team, Arlington's managers and scrubs, who with the faculty and entire student body combined to bring many thrilling contests—some saddened by defeat; some lightened by victory.

FALL 1956 — FOOTBALL, CROSS COUNTRY

In addition to finishing third in the WSC meet, and fourth in the district meet, Arlington's '56 cross-country squad had an overall season record of eight wins and four losses — the most successful cross-country record in the history of sports at Arlington.

Coach Russ Attis' hopes looked dim with Dick Koopman and Alan Hutchinson as the only point-getters at the season opener, but six new boys—Ken Courter, Ron Marks, Bob Taggart, John Anderson, Les Vaughan, and Ted Geocaris—bolstered the squad into a well balanced team.

Taking time out from cross-country, one could glance at the football field and see Fred C. Schmoyer's marching band as they practiced for their part in half-time football entertainment. Also seen perfecting their drills were the Color Guard, who presented the colors during half-time at games and marched with the band in several parades.

TACKLING THE JOB

Starting the 1956 fall sports season by stimulating school spirit, the twelve Arlington cheerleaders led yells at the hour-long pep assembly held in the football bleachers before the first football game September 14. Chosen for their ability to lead cheers and promote school spirit, the three freshman cheerleaders were selected the first week of school, while the other positions on the squads were filled last spring.

Early in the fall the six varsity cheerleaders, headed by Judy Peterson, and the six frosh-soph cheerleaders, led by Linda Golle, were guests of honor at the annual sports banquet.

The advent of the basketball season found the varsity cheerleaders cheering in brand new red uniforms. Throughout this sports season, as in the football season, all twelve of the girls could be found doing their utmost to encourage the team and promote spirit among the students.

Flying through the air with the greatest of ease are varsity gridders Jim Hoffmann and Dan Vittum.

A crucial play in the game brings distress to Bob Creviston, Ed Shumaker, and Denny Zapp.

The 1956 edition of the Arlington varsity compiled a season record of three victories and five defeats, good for a fifth place finish. The varsity eleven, coached by "Bus" Ormsbee, Bob Scott, and Art Serfling, kicked off their season with a 12-12 deadlock with Leyden, listed as an Arlington victory because of a forfeit.

The first conference tilt resulted in a 14-7 triumph for "Bus" Ormsbee's boys. After two consecutive losses to Hinsdale and Maine—the Homecoming contest—the varsity Cards edged Downers Grove for their last victory of the year, LaGrange, Glenbard, and Riverside-Brookfield took the following three games.

An overall record of two victories, five defeats, and one tie was achieved by Arlington's frosh-soph gridders.

By the end of the year, coach Bill Beckman and assistant coach Dick Mudge had the squad worked into a hard-charged unit, which attained the conference record of 2-4-1, good for a fifth place tie.

Arlington's freshman football team led by head coach "Tego" Larsen and assistant mentors "Rusty" Dowell and Maurice Kellogg compiled the record of five victories and two defeats in play this year.

Walloping Hinsdale by a 31 to 14 tally marked the first time an AH freshman team defeated the Red Devils.

Still peppy after vigorous football practice, the frosh-sophs charge for the locker room.

"Forty million napkins can't be wrong," says Connie Raasch to Sandy Powell as they put the finishing touches on their Homecoming float.

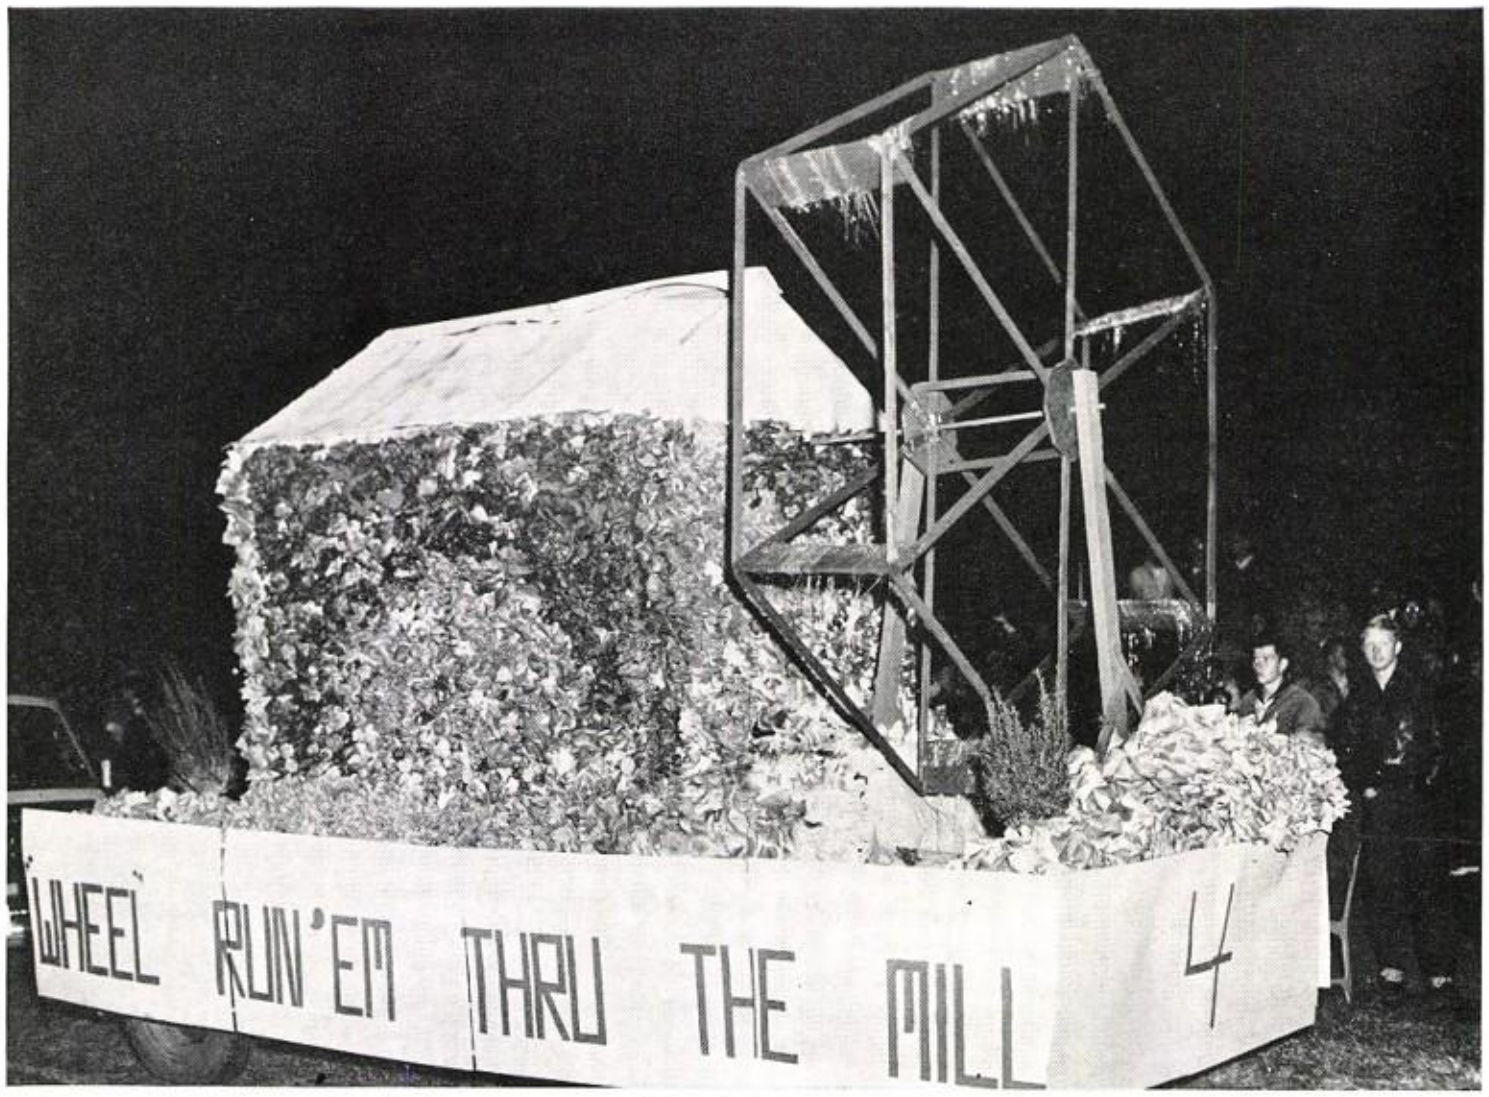
With the brisk October breezes blowing and the leaves taking on their autumn colors, there arrived a buzzing stir among the students at Arlington High School, an excitement which could mean only one thing—Homecoming!

These exciting days started with the important decision of a slogan for a first prize float. Then, after nights of hurried preparation, the long awaited hour came, when the decorated floats, the marching band, and the royal court started on their parade through town.

To climax Homecoming day, the winning floats were paraded on the field during half-time at the game. "Wheel run 'em through the mill" was the slogan of the first prize float, constructed by three senior homerooms. The second place, a freshman float, depicted a broken clock and proclaimed, "We'll pop their main spring!" while juniors took third prize with a politician's train, featuring Doug Steingraber campaigning for Arlington's forthcoming victory.

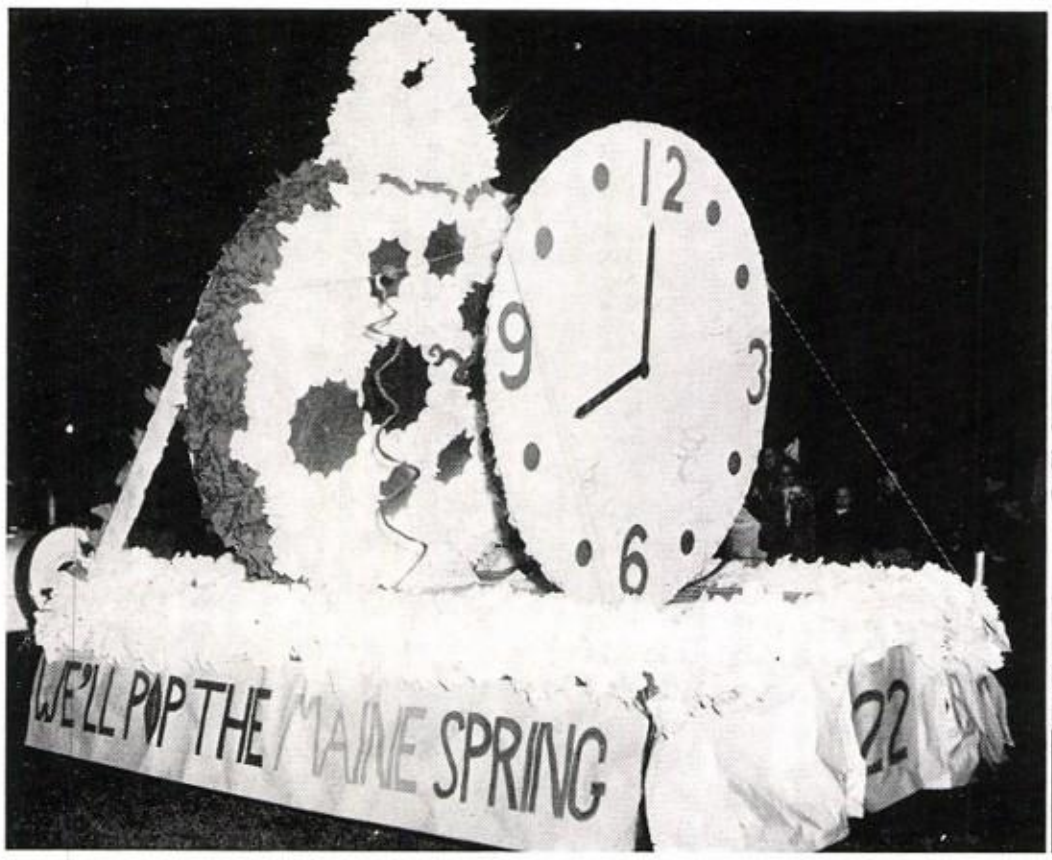
HOMECOMING SPIRIT TAKES HOLD OF AH

Everyone loves a parade, especially when Homecoming spirit fills the air. Here the anxious crowd makes way for the marching band.

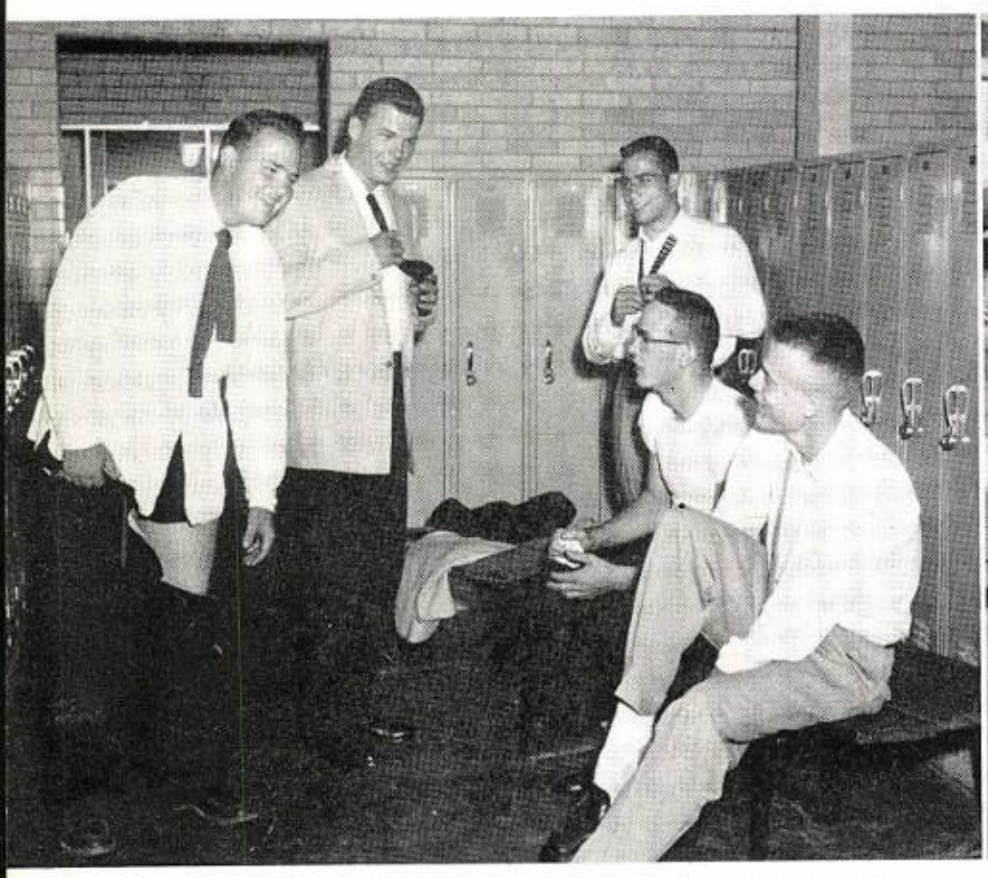


The wheels were turning in the right direction for the seniors as they built a first place float showing their prediction of Maine's fate.

It was time for victory for three freshman homerooms when they entered this float in the Homecoming parade, taking second place.



"Cast your ballots for 'A' victory," shouts Doug Steingraber as this junior float takes third prize in the Homecoming parade.



Joking as usual, the candidates for homecoming king are shown just before the presentation as they spruce up for the big moment.

HOMECOMING 1956, STORY OF MEMORIES

Homecoming 1956 was a story of memories, different to each and every person involved.

September 14 was to most students at Arlington High School an average school day, but to ten members of the senior class it was the beginning of what was to be a deeply treasured memory. On that day Jane Holloway, Stephanie Empkie, Judy Johnston, Judy Peterson, Nancy Wilkinson, Bill Palmer, Chuck Petersen, Don Plank, Ed Rabe, and Dan Vittum were given the honor of being chosen the 1956 Homecoming king and queen candidates.

Most students at Arlington were familiar with the candidates, but to acquaint everyone with their personalities, the CARDINAL ran a special feature with profiles on the royalty. All the candidates agreed that the spirit of Homecoming—the floats, parade, mums, game, and dance—combined to make an event they would long remember.

A further look at the nominees was given September 28 in a special assembly, in which Marty Gatts and Alan Hutchinson introduced the candidates for king and queen. Students returned to their homerooms after the presentation assembly to cast their votes.

From that day forth, rumors were circulated, bets were placed, and hot arguments raged on the topic of interest to all—the 1956 king and queen. Even the candidates themselves were uninformed, and the tension mounted steadily until Thursday, October 4, the day of the coronation.

An atmosphere of mystery and suspense prevailed over the assembly as lights were dimmed and spotlights were placed on the candidates, who stood two by two, solemnly awaiting the students' decision.

All was ready. Everyone became still; pages Janie Hertel and Bob Wolf handed the scroll to Bob Lenz. Bob announced that Judy Peterson and Chuck Petersen would reign over the Homecoming festivities at Arlington! The applause was deafening as Judy and Chuck were crowned, and circling the gym, they proudly greeted their subjects.

Although little was seen of the king, the queen and her court made their appearance at the Homecoming football game where they again received cheers and ovations from all.

The Homecoming Dance dramatically climaxed festivities for the present time, but Homecoming 1956 will forever be alive in the hearts and minds of those concerned.

2ND TIME 'ROUND

The winter wind blew, along with flurries of snow, a whirlwind of activity to the sophomore class. Led by Bob Barbour, president; John Lussow, vice president; Judy Keppen, secretary; Judy Johnson, treasurer; and Mike Shannon, traffic court judge; the class worked under the guidance of Miss Martha Craig and Mr. Harold Husa.

Following the excitement of Homecoming, the sophomores began work on the turnabout, the Harvest Moon Hop. The girls enthusiastically endorsed the dance, and a great number of couples danced under a huge harvest moon.

Next in line for the upper-underclassmen was their part in the talent show, the "Million Dollar Follies." The sophomores were well represented in individual acts by twirlers Bonnie Benson, Judy Schmoyer, and Sandy Peterson with their twirling routine, and acrobatic dancer Marilyn Hagberg. An airport waiting room set the scene for singing and dancing in the class skit, which revolved around the theme "Big D" and won for them a second place in the judging.

Many a hearty cheer was led by cheerleaders Simone Malchow, Lynn Stadell, Linda Golle, and, later, Judy Keppen, while urging their teams to victory. Right on the beam at the games were the soph concessionaires as they sold popcorn and cokes to raise money for next year's Prom.

AH SPEAKERS — THE TALK OF THE TOWN

"Hear ye! Hear ye!" might have been the cry of students in the National Forensic League who read the daily announcements over the newly installed loud-speaker system this past year. Entrance into N.F.L., a national orgaization honoring students participating in debate, public speaking, and contest speaking, was gained through an accumulation of points earned through work in speech. As members of the league, students had opportunities to obtain higher degrees by gaining additional N.F.L. points.

Many N.F.L. members also participated in debate, a branch of the National Forensic League. The debate teams, consisting of three squads—varsity, sub-varsity, and frosh-soph—debated in many tournaments, round robins, and contests throughout the year. Mr. Floyd Dougherty coached the varsity and sub-varsity teams, while Mr. Clarence Feiereisel coached the frosh-soph. The Arlington debate teams were new members of the Metropolitan debate League—league of high schools in the area—this year.

In this scene from "Bontche Schweig" a humble peasant (Gary Moreland) is shown to a seat in heaven by Father Abraham (Tom Behm).

GIVING REGARDS TO OLD BROADWAY

Flapper Amy (Joy Vitoux) greets her mother (Jan Davenport) in a scene from "The Show-off," a play set in the Roaring Twenties.

"Places everyone . . . Act I."
"Footlights on, houselights dim."
"Curtain going up!"

Before these final words were spoken, however, a grea many hours had been put in. Under the direction of Mr. Douglas Murphy, head of the dramatic department, there were sets to be built, costumes and props to be borrowed, bought, or made, and above all, weeks of hard work and rehearsal.

The fall production was a collection of three one-act plays: "Bears, Goats, and Angels." Mid-winter saw the cast of "The Show-off" play to a full house in the newly completed Little Theater. The contest play and a spring play were also presented by the drama department.

Through participation in the cast and crew of these productions, many students gained membership in the National Thespian Society. Following a fall initiation, Tom Farrand, Marge MacCarron, and Sharon Sellers were chosen as officers. Another initiation was held in the spring.

AT YOUR SERVICE

Ailing students and those needing first aid in the way of supplies found help in two of Arlington High's service organizations—the Nurse's Aids and the school supply store.

Students in need of first aid came to the health services office, which was located in a new, larger room this year. Twenty Nurse's Aids assisted the school nurse Mrs. Hufnagel in administering minor first aid to students, doing clerical work, and helping with the eye and ear tests and the chest X-ray program.

School supplies ranging from locks to notebooks could be purchased before school and during lunch periods at the student supply store. Behind the counter were students from the office practice or business education departments chosen for this capacity by Mrs. Faulkner, the sponsor and senior clerk, who supervised the ordering and sale of supplies. The five students who served as clerks had opportunity to gain experience in saleswork, as well as in giving service to the student body. An important event for these clerks was attending the office machine show in Chicago.

Service with a smile offered at supply store by Charles Rush, Barb Bader, Frank Embry, Diane De ker, Mrs. Faulkner, Mary Kaiser.

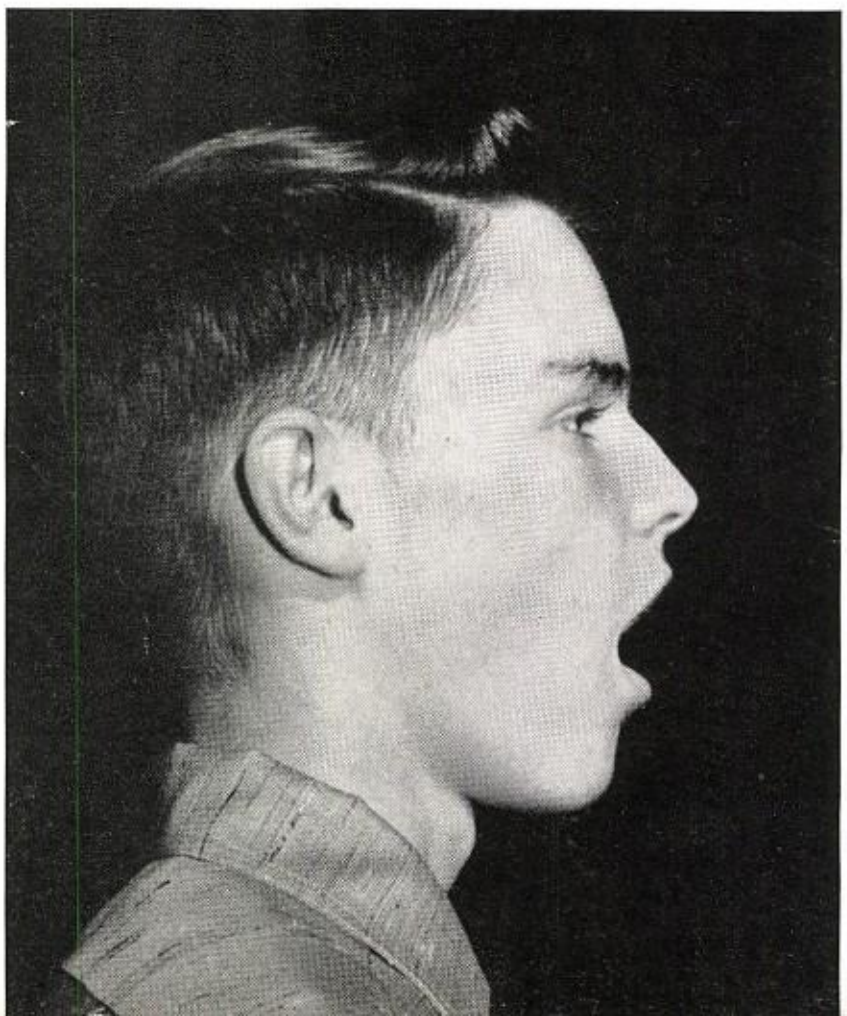
MUSIC GROUPS — SING AND "LEICK" IT

"There's a song in my heart—but will it last?" wonders sophomore Bob Taggert, as he tries to hold that high note a full twelve count.



At the top of Arlington's scale of musical success were the Harmonettes, the A Cappella Choir, and the Mixed Chorus. Under the direction of Miss June Leick, these three vocal groups remained in the musical spotlight throughout the year.

Identified by their theme song, "Hello Everybody," the Harmonettes were a group of eleven girls from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Their repertoire of sacred, secular, classical, and popular music lent itself to performances at local clubs and gatherings, the Girls' Club Banquet, and the traditional coronation of Homecoming King and Queen.

The Harmonettes also participated in the activities of the A Cappella Choir, the summit of all Arlington vocal groups. Composed of one hundred four voices, ranging from soprano to bass, the Choir sang in the operetta, "No, No, Nanette," the Thanksgiving and Christmas Assemblies, the Christmas Concert, the West Suburban Music Festival, and the Spring Concert.

The eighty-two sophomores, juniors, and seniors in the Mixed Chorus participated in all the department's concerts.

AH MUSIC MAKERS MASTER MELODIES

Freshman Boys' Chorus Second Row: Wayne Meyer, Kenneth Dougan, Clinton Bowman, Allen Wolvin, Herbert LaTallitsch, Willis Hendrickson, Robert Hall, John Pozan, James Zapp, Victor Rose, Ronald Richardson. First Row: Robert McDowell, Robert Wolf, Glenn Bernard, Alan Grotefend, Ronald Friend, Lee Bradley, Warren Myers, Kurt Molenkamp, Jack Burke, Alfred Jutzi, Bob Sawyer.

Members of Choraliers, Treble Clef, and Freshman Boys' Chorus have discovered the truth in the old adage—"Sing and the world sings yith you." The Choraliers, a vocal group under the direction of Mr. Robert Wolf, has been in existence two years. These six boys and six girls, clad in appropriate outfits, performed at many school and community functions. They represented Arlington at the Conference Dance and provided entertainment for the sophomore dance, in addition to taking part in the Operetta and Talent Show.

Treble Clef, composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, was one of the three all-girl choral groups. The one hundred twenty-two girls combined their talents to sing at the Christmas Concert, the Christmas and the spring assemblies, and at several other recitals. Again this year the Treble Clef members, along with other vocal organizations, helped raise money for the Music Department by selling fruit cakes, candy, and chocolate topping.

The Freshman Boys' Chorus, twenty-six strong, participated in the Christmas Concert, the Christmas and spring assemblies, and other school activities, under the direction of Miss June Leick. The boys also helped with backstage work during various music department productions.

How did the members of Freshman Girls' Chorus feel about music? They "Leicked" it! Yes, freshman girls at Arlington took their first step toward musical success in the Freshman Girls' Chorus. The chorus, under the direction of Miss June Leick, consisted of two groups with a combined membership of one hundred and forty girls. The girls had opportunities to develop their singing talents by performing in such productions as "The Messiah," both the Winter and Spring Concerts, and in several of the assemblies.

Members of the Freshman Girls' Chorus had the additional opportunity to try out for the Freshman Ensemble, a comparatively new group at Arlington. Miss Leick directed the sixteen girls, who performed at several student assemblies and at various other functions throughout the school year.

With a good beginning the girls have an excellent chance to achieve further success in Arlington music.

CHRISTMAS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR

A dancing couple pauses to admire the silent beauty of a winter scene which highlighted the decorations at the Christmas Snow Ball.

Tom Jacobsen escorts Judy Johnston through the entrance arch at the Senior Snow Ball, following her coronation as Snow Queen.

Anticipation hovers over the audience as the orchestra tunes up before accompanying the choirs in the presentation of the "Messiah."

MUSIC SOARS IN A WINTER WONDERLAND

"'Tis the season to be jolly" as Diane Dalley, Kay Christman, and Penny Mitchell join in singing an ancient yuletide carol.

Christmas is a many splendored thing. Its ingredients include everything from the ridiculous to the sublime, which, when combined, bring a feeling of warmth and happiness to all. For students at Arlington, Christmas Season 1956 began with the music department's inspiring presentation of Handel's Messiah. All Arlington High vocal and instrumental groups, plus eleven choirs, four soloists, and additional instrumentalists, participated in the Christmas Concert—the largest program ever attempted by the music department.

Christmas, of course, could not have been Christmas without a banquet and a Santa Claus. The Girls' Club furnished both of these necessary elements at its traditional pot luck supper. The officers and the faculty sponsor, Miss Craig, supervised the party to which all girls, faculty women, and cafeteria staff members were invited. Santa Claus, in the person of Celia Close, passed out gifts from the giant grab bag. The Harmonettes, Linda Clemens, Lynn Stadell, and Karen Brodahl provided the entertainment.

The climax to AH holiday festivities came on the eve of December nineteenth when the Senior Class presented the Snow Ball. Highlighting the evening was the selection of Snow Queen Judy Johnston by bandleader Del Baker.

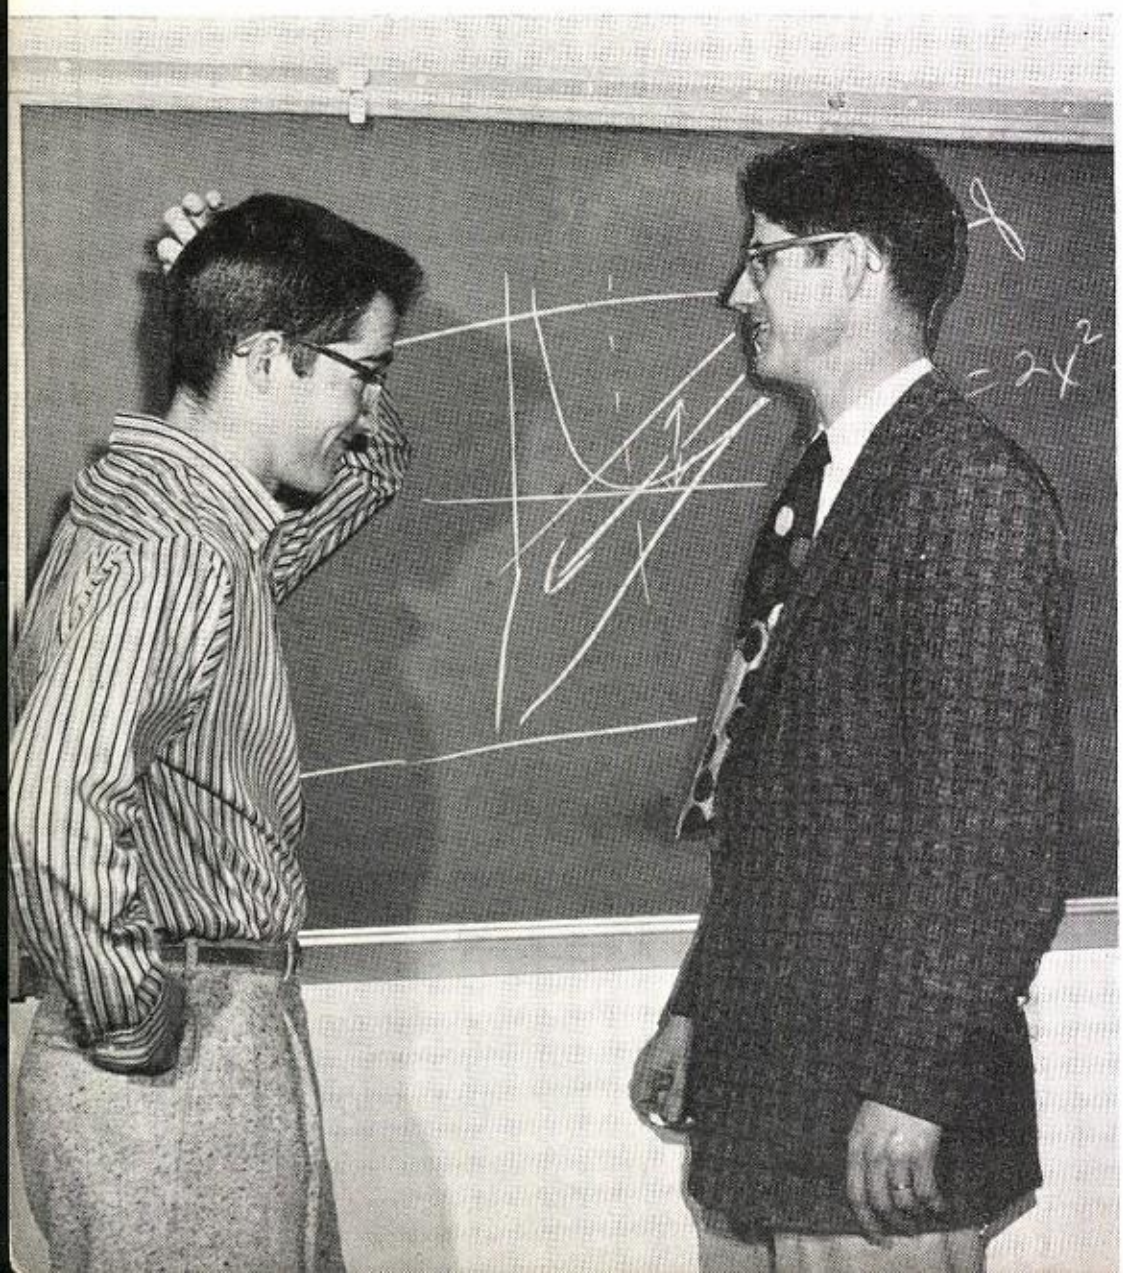
"Snow way to get places — sitting down," says junior Sue Knoepfle to sophomore Faye Tagtmeier, as they gleefully greet the falling snow with visions of a long weekend of fun.

"We don't care if the sun don't shine; we have our fun in the wintertime," say seniors Gail Rosene and Bob Wikstrom as they struggle to maintain balance on the icy toboggan slides.

"Let it snow; let it snow; let it snow," seem to be the sentiments of these four winter sports enthusiasts as they relax by the warmth of a fire after a day of tobogganing during the holidays.

Like Anna of the "King and I," Miss Frey is perplexed by a "puzzlement," as she tries to grade exams . . . "etcetera, etcetera, etcetera."

EXAMS PUZZLE TEACHERS AND STUDENTS



Twice annually the strain of exams is evident on the faces of the faculty as well as the students. The work which is involved in preparing these immense tests is lengthy and trying. Early in January of each year, the faculty members prepare the mid-term examinations, which cover all the material studied during the first four months of the school year. For the semester courses that carry one-half credit, the tests given at mid-term are equivalent to the final examinations given in other subjects at the end of the school year.

After the vast amount of work necessary in the preparation of these examinations is completed, the work of the faculty is far from complete. The exams completed by the students must be marked and graded in time to be recorded by the I.B.M. machine in the office. With over one hundred examinations to grade, each teacher spends many extra curricular hours at this time-consuming task.

Jim Goodling seems to be completely baffled by this advanced algebra problem, but he can be sure that Mr. Spacapan will make it look easy.

Two fortunate faculty members, Miss Katsoulis and Mr. Kemman, find a moment to relax and break the strain of classroom schedules.

Interest in professional vocations this past year was stimulated by three organizations, the F.T.A., the F.N.A., and the Library Club.

Presiding over Arlington's fountain of knowledge were the sixty-five members of the Library Club. Serving as student assistants, club members were required to work in the library two or more periods a week. In addition to aiding the librarians, club members helped develop student interest in library books, improve service in the library, and give students the opportunity to learn library procedure. Chosen as officers were Greg Wagner, Ann Carlisle, Nancy Mees, Robin Posselt, and Nancy Heimsoth.

Future Nurses Association interested many in nursing and the allied medical fields through programs, field trips, and projects. Elected as officers were Beth Gassen, Lydia Schwartz, Karen Wille, Barbara Siech, Sally Hodson, and Lynn Rodewald.

When the Future Teachers Association met under the sponsorship of Miss Frey, the officers Judy Kohl, Linda Mann, and Judy Lips conducted discussion groups in which members, planning for their professional futures, investigated fields of teaching and listened to guest speakers.

"If 'knowledge is wealth' I should be a millionaire," says senior Mary Ann Fabian who spends extra hours working in the library.

Students who enjoy and appreciate art were given an opportunity to join the Daubers' Club, which offered its members information and demonstrations on various art skills. During the year the Daubers sponsored several classic movies, open to the entire student body, and an all-school art show which gave students a chance to display their handiwork. Officers Linda Hackbarth, Betty Christman, Pam Wickens, and Virginia Sowinski headed the club, which was sponsored by Mr. Fischer.

Dealing with pictures of a different type, but employing artistic principles, the Camera Club began its activity in the early fall, photographing construction work in the new unit. Aiming to teach members to develop, print, and enlarge photographs and to give them opportunities to use elaborate equipment, the Camera Club planned special demonstrations for meetings and operated its own darkroom. President Andrew Sim and sponsors Mr. Mueller and Mr. Etherton led the club in carrying out the projects.

MARCH OF CHEMICALS, CAMERAS, COLORS

"Lights, camera, action!" As far as the Audio-Visual Club was concerned, these three words meant learning to operate and care for slide projectors, motion picture projectors, record players, and tape recorders. Leading the club in service at school and classroom functions were president Bob Eaton, vice president Rod Roeske, secretary Donald Brohm, and adviser Mr. Miller.

The minor explosions occasionally heard after school could be attributed to the Chemistry Club. Unusual experiments and demonstrations performed by club members often provided the program for club meetings, in addition to special events, such as guest speakers and field trips to industries dealing with chemicals. The club was under the direction of Mr. Meiller, adviser; Lee Watson, president; Gary Young, veep; and Jim Knopp, secretary-treasurer.

SPARKING MINDS

"The mathematician has reached the highest rung on the ladder of human thought," said an unknown author. For those students at Arlington striving to reach this high peak in math and engineering, the Math Club gave opportunity for higher learning. Sponsored by Mr. Shirley and Mr. McKillip, the club was organized to cover unusual math problems and to study calculus, different number systems, and the history of mathematics. The '56-'57 officers, Gary Young, Lee Watson, and Sherrell Reed, were chosen early in the fall.

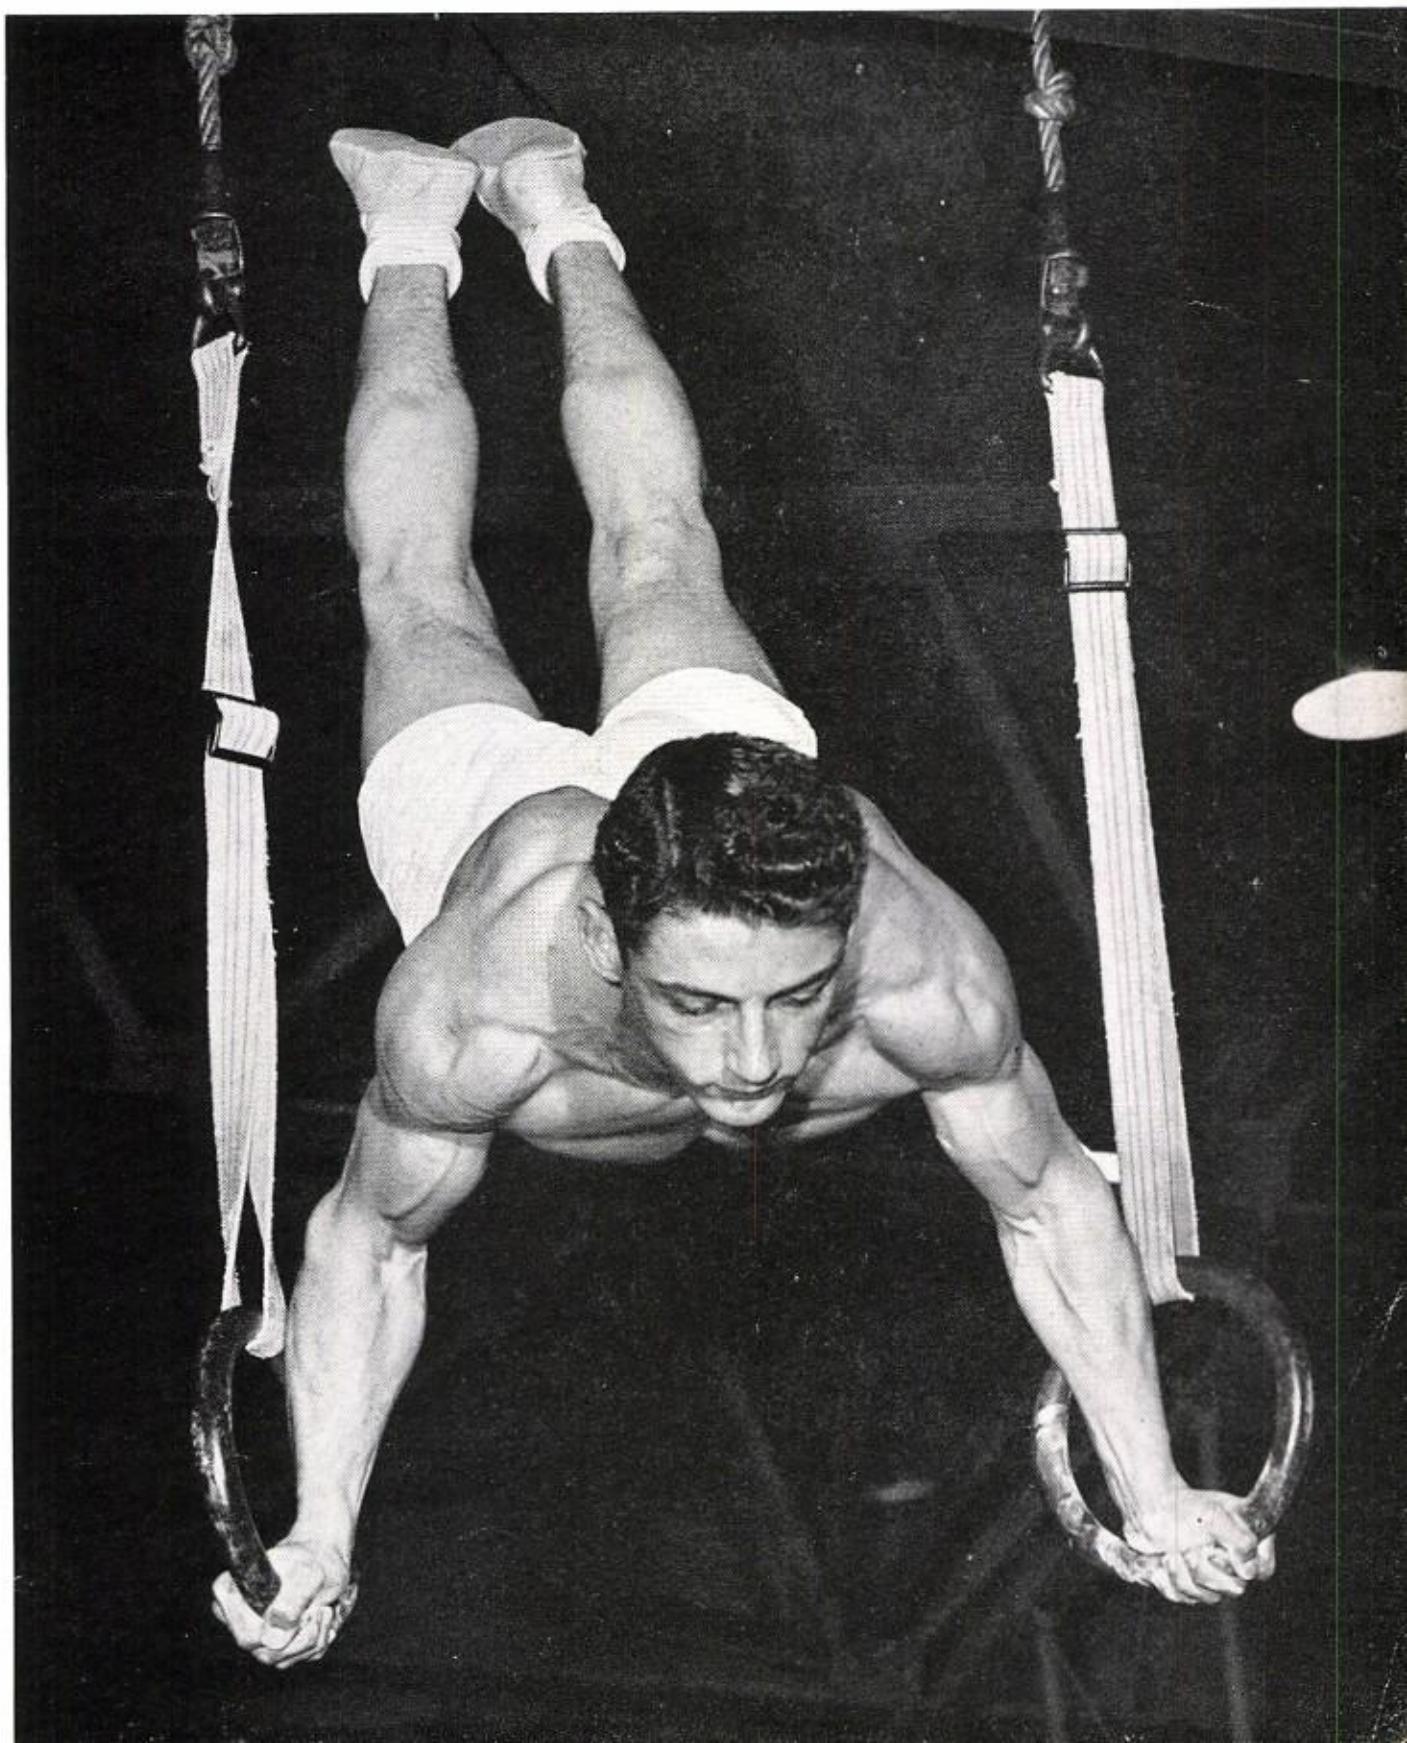
Mathematics proves helpful in many fields, one of which is electronics. This year the Electronics Club was reactivated after a lapse of five years. Major purposes of the organization were working to obtain a "ham" license to be an amateur radio operator and working with electronic test instruments for radio and television. The officers were John Staples, president; Wally Myers, vice president; and Jim Sherwood, secretary-treasurer.

AH WINTER SPORTS SEASON 1956-57

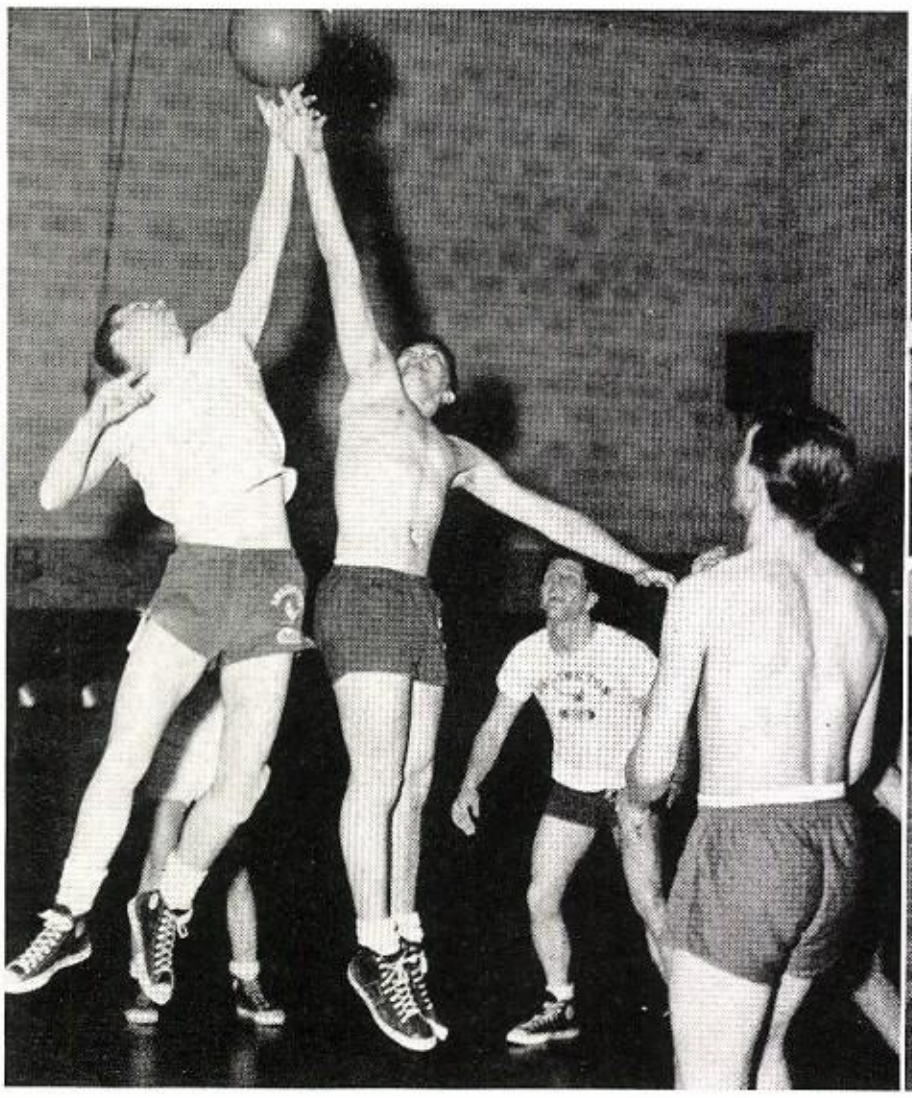
Along with the wind, snow, and cold winter weather came Arlington's winter sports program—basketball, wrestling, and gymnastics.

Fancy ball handling, deadly long shots, last second spins, dieting to make the 103 weight class, swinging on parallel bars, falling off the trampoline—all these added up to a thrilling and colorful winter sports season for Cardinal fans.

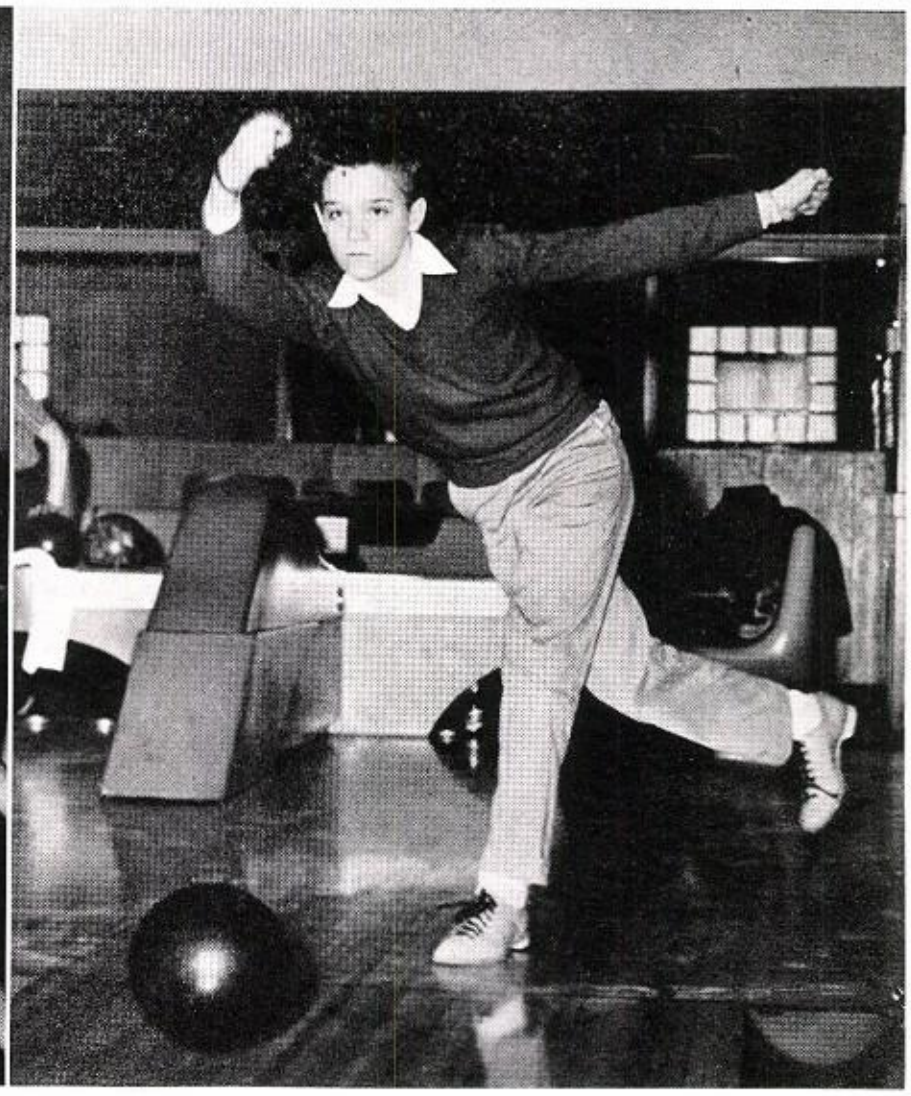
Large and enthusiastic turnouts for the varsity and frosh-soph wrestling and gymnastic squads indicated, at the advent of the season, aggressiveness and team spirit which carried the teams to many victories. Victorious, too, were Arlington's cagemen, who—all the way from the standing varsity five to the "Frosh B" squad—provided excitement never to be forgotten by cheering students.



Flying high with the help of muscles and co-ordination, Tom Seward displays his skill on the rings in preparation for a gymnastics meet.



With the precision of a French minuet, Dave Curtis and Avery Smith reach for the ball as Lynn Schaller awaits the change of partners.



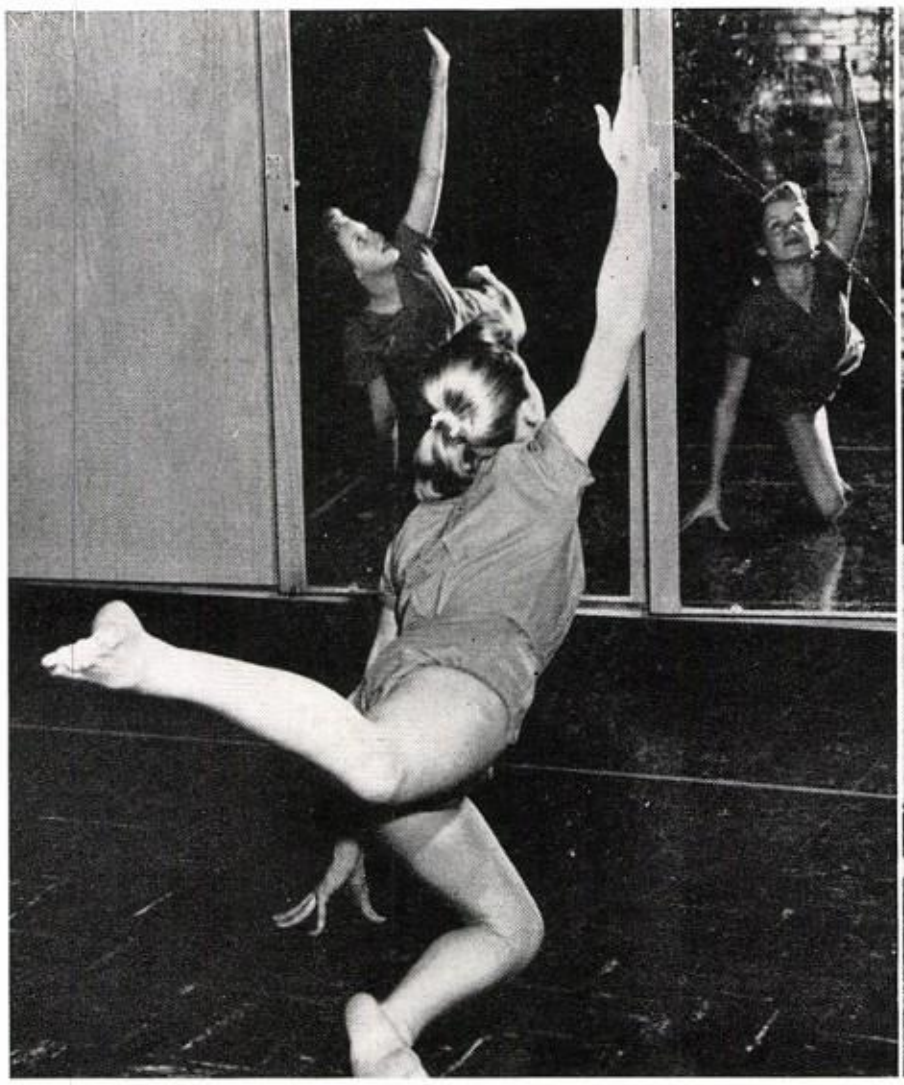
Bob Wolf follows through on the first frame of what he hopes will be a 300 game to raise the team average during the winter intramurals.

THERE IS A SPORT

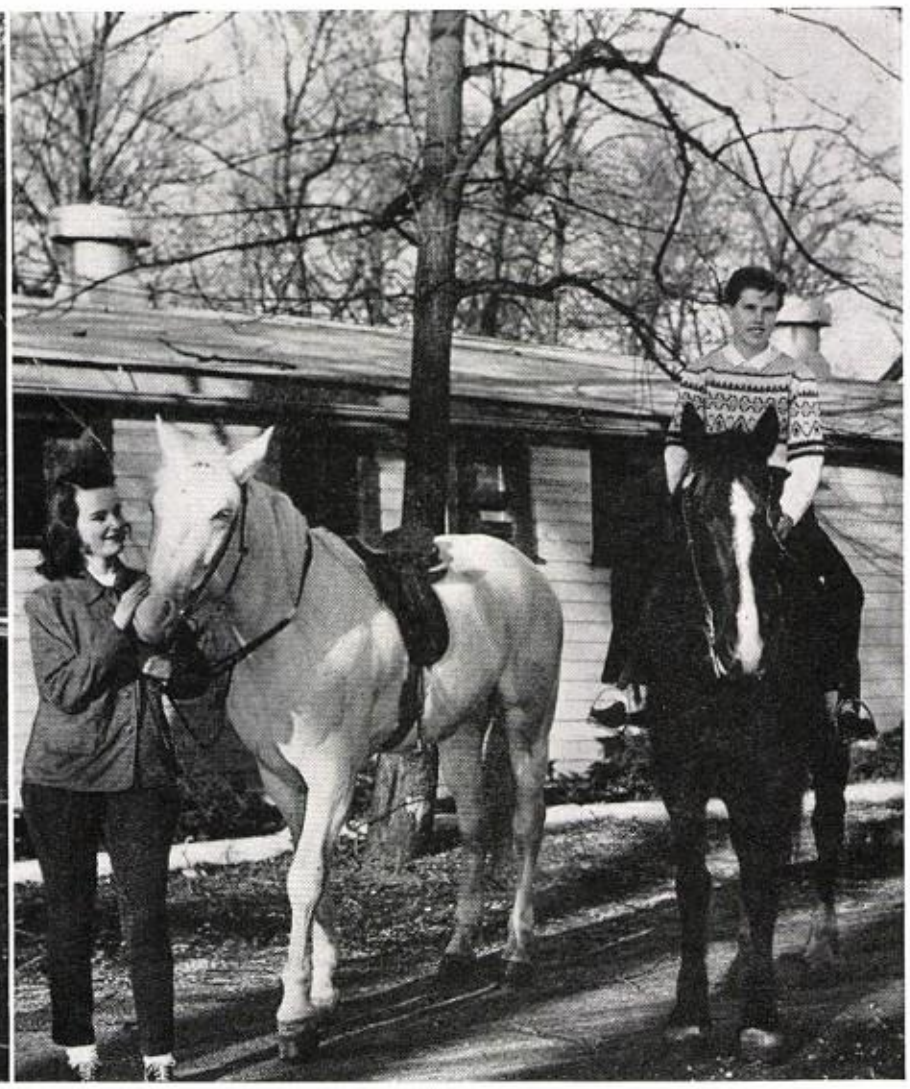
Including football, bowling, and basketball, the boys' intramural program, under the direction of Mr. Donald Fyfe, gave those students not involved in school sports a chance to participate in some kind of organized activity.

Continuing from the second week of school until the latter part of October, football intramurals were held on the football practice fields every Tuesday and Thursday after school.

The bowling and basketball intramural programs ran concurrently from November to March. The keglers, about thirty-five strong, bowled every Monday after school at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights under the auspices of Tom Cors. The six intramural basketball squads, each composed of six boys, played two nights a week in the girls' gym. The winning squads were recognized through awards.



Sore muscles are often the result of G.R.A. modern dance courses, yet freshmen Dotty Dotts and Phyllis Bischof practice with enthusiasm.



"Somebody forgot to put the dime in!" says junior Susan Ball to Diane Blose, who is unable to arouse her reluctant steed to action.

FOR EVERY DESIRE

An added interest for Arlington girls this year was the Girls' Recreational Association. Sponsored by Miss Rose and Mrs. Wissen, G.R.A. members chose Ann Brown, president; Linda Hackbarth, vice president; Pam Wickens, secretary; Ellen Wolf, treasurer; and Linda Timmerman, intramural chairman.

The intramural sports offered to the girls were divided into five different "sports seasons." The fall season included field hockey and tennis, and the two winter seasons offered modern dance, bowling, leaders' class, basketball, stunts and tumbling, and recreational games such as badminton, shuffle-board, and table tennis. Volleyball, bowling, modern dance, softball, archery, and golf were included in the two spring sports seasons.

Ushers' Club

A Club

3 V'S TO VICTORY

Providing the vim, vigor, and vitality which lead to victory was the aim of three "spirited" organizations — Pep Club, A Club, and Ushers' Club.

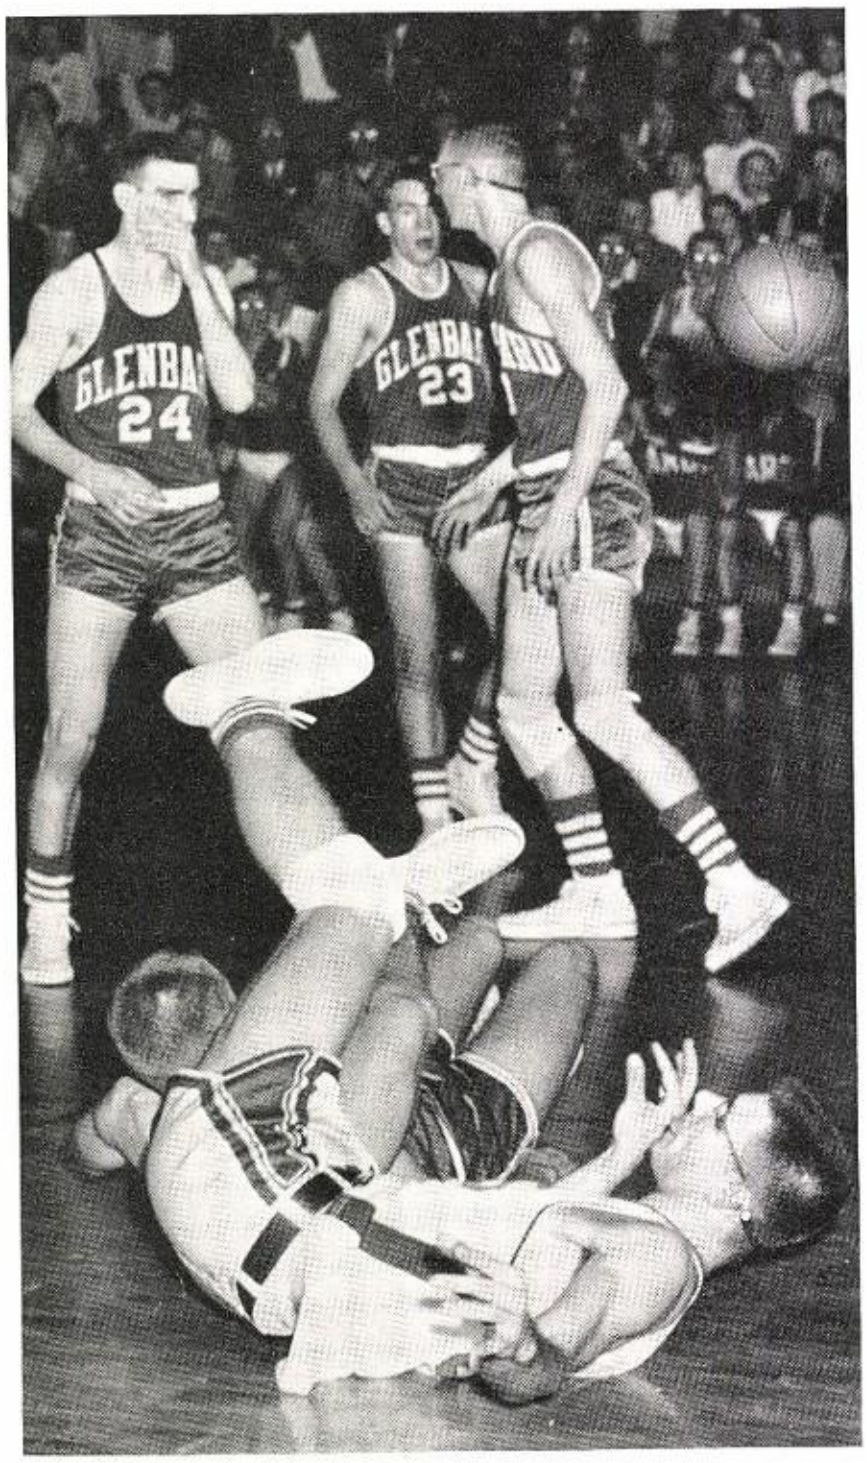
The '57 Pep Club was behind the teams at every game, helping the cheerleaders with organized cheers. An organized card routine was a new twist added to pep section cheering by Pep Club officers Judi Laughlin, Judy Fitz-Patrick, and Judy Keppen. One of the largest clubs in the school, Pep Club had four sponsors: Miss Weisenberger, Miss Katsoulis, Miss Jensen, and Mr. Umberger.

Also seen in the Cardinal cheering section were the lettermen of the A Club. When not participating in a sport, these major letter winners promoted spirit among Cardinal fans. Dan Vittum, Jim Hoffmann, Dean Skadberg, and Ed Meinken directed the club, which was sponsored by Mr. Hughes.

Manning the ropes at all home football and basketball games, Ushers' Club members admitted spectators, kept order, and encouraged good sportsmanship. Officers Ron Jonas, president; Don DeNapoli, veep; and Gene Straus, secretary-treasurer, led the club with the help of Mr. Waara.

First ladies of pep Judy Keppen, Judi Laughlin, and Judie Fitz-Patrick prefer front seats at Card ball games to any inaugural ball.

The score rises, and so do pep clubbers, watching the Cards chalk up another point in the exciting La Grange game.



'56-'57 COURT CREW

Team spirit, plenty of height, powerful rebounding, and good, fast play added up to Arlington's most successful basketball season since entering WSC competition.

Led by Coach Lester, Arlington's varsity cagers compiled an 11-9 season's record prior to the regionals and were 7-7 in WSC play; the Cards also defeated Wheaton and Niles to capture the Christmas Holiday Tourney at Leyden.

The starting five for Coach Lester's court crew were center Bill Palmer, forwards Captain Tom Jacobsen and Bob Lockwood, guards Jack Weber and Bruce Bjorklund.

Coach Frank Bohac, in his first year as frosh-soph basketball mentor, guided the young Cards to an impressive 16-5 season's record and a 10-4 showing in WSC.

Spearheading the frosh-soph attack were the high scoring guards Lee Magnuson and Dave Varnado, center Ed Whitelaw, and forwards Don Gerken and Pat Corteen.

In an effort to allow more boys to participate, freshman basketball was again divided into "A" and "B" squads, led by Coach Schaller and Coach Anderson.

"Who's got the ball?" "Oh! He's got the ball!" "No?" "Well he had the ball." "Gee, fellas, who stole the ball?" "Oh! I see the ball!"

PIN OR BE PINNED

Arlington's 1956-57 varsity wrestlers won the sectional tournament for the first time in the school's history when they defeated Elgin and fourteen other highly ranked schools. The grapplers who delivered the winning blows for Coach Richard Mudge's squad were first place winners, Jerry Bonn, Captain Pat Harris, and Dean Schneck; runners-up, Co-captain Ralph Carlino and Ed Schumacher; third place winner, George Steil; and fourth, Phil Deming.

Crippling injuries and an extremely tough schedule held Coach Mudge's grapplers to a third place in WSC standings and a 5-6 record in dual meets. But with five of the six sectional winners returning next year, there seems to be a bright outlook for wrestling at Arlington.

Bolstering this optimistic view was Coach Maurice Kellogg's frosh-soph squad. Despite losing several starters to varsity positions, the squad compiled a 7-5 record.

MEN, MATS, MEETS

After a successful 1955-1956 season in which they finished second in the state to New Trier, the 1956-57 varsity gymnastics team had to concentrate on building a winner. Only two lettermen remained on the squad, which had lost the bulk of its downstate team.

Lettermen Bruce Robb and Tom Seward were the key men in Coach Gay Hughes' hope of retaining the form of the 1954-55 State Champs and the 1956 runners-up.

During the year the varsity won two matches and lost seven but were hampered by constant injury and sickness, usually occurring to their key men.

While the varsity won just two meets, the newly-formed frosh-soph gymnastics team started their first year competition with an impressive 5-0 record. Coached by Mr. Righter Farris, the future varsity showed promise of a profitable future by beating four teams and squeaking by York by one point to end their very successful first season.

"The Council's work is never done," seems to be the slogan of those who have served as members of this year's Student Council. Along with the Talent Show and Homecoming, some of the bigger projects of the Council have been College Night, the Sock Hop, and Brotherhood Week.

Representatives from colleges in Illinois and surrounding states were engaged by the Council for College Night. From them juniors and seniors received advice and information about advanced education.

The Student Council shouldered another responsibility this year in deciding to sponsor the annual Sock Hop. Couples looked as if they were straight from the East Coast as they sported Ivy League fashions.

One of the newest and most successful projects undertaken was an exchange program with Dunbar Vocational High School in Chicago. Dunbar, an all Negro school, sent six representatives to visit Arlington during Brotherhood Week. The following day six Arlington students were guests of Dunbar High School. The Council also sponsored an assembly during Brotherhood Week, in which Mr. Ted Cobb, a Negro, spoke to the student body.

A year-long project for the Council was the operation of the Traffic Court. Students who had violated one or more of the rules in Arlington's traffic code were required to appear before the Traffic Court eighth hour. Here, Chief Justice Jeff Hanor, along with the four judges, and the student clerks and attorneys, listened to the cases being tried and decided upon the fine or sentence.

ENDLESS WORK CONFRONTS THE COUNCIL

Arlington says "Hello" to Dunbar exchange students on their arrival at AH for participation in Brotherhood Week activities.

Sitting on top of the world, student director Bob Lenz views talent show rehearsal with co-chairmen Steph Empkie and Ann Whiteley.

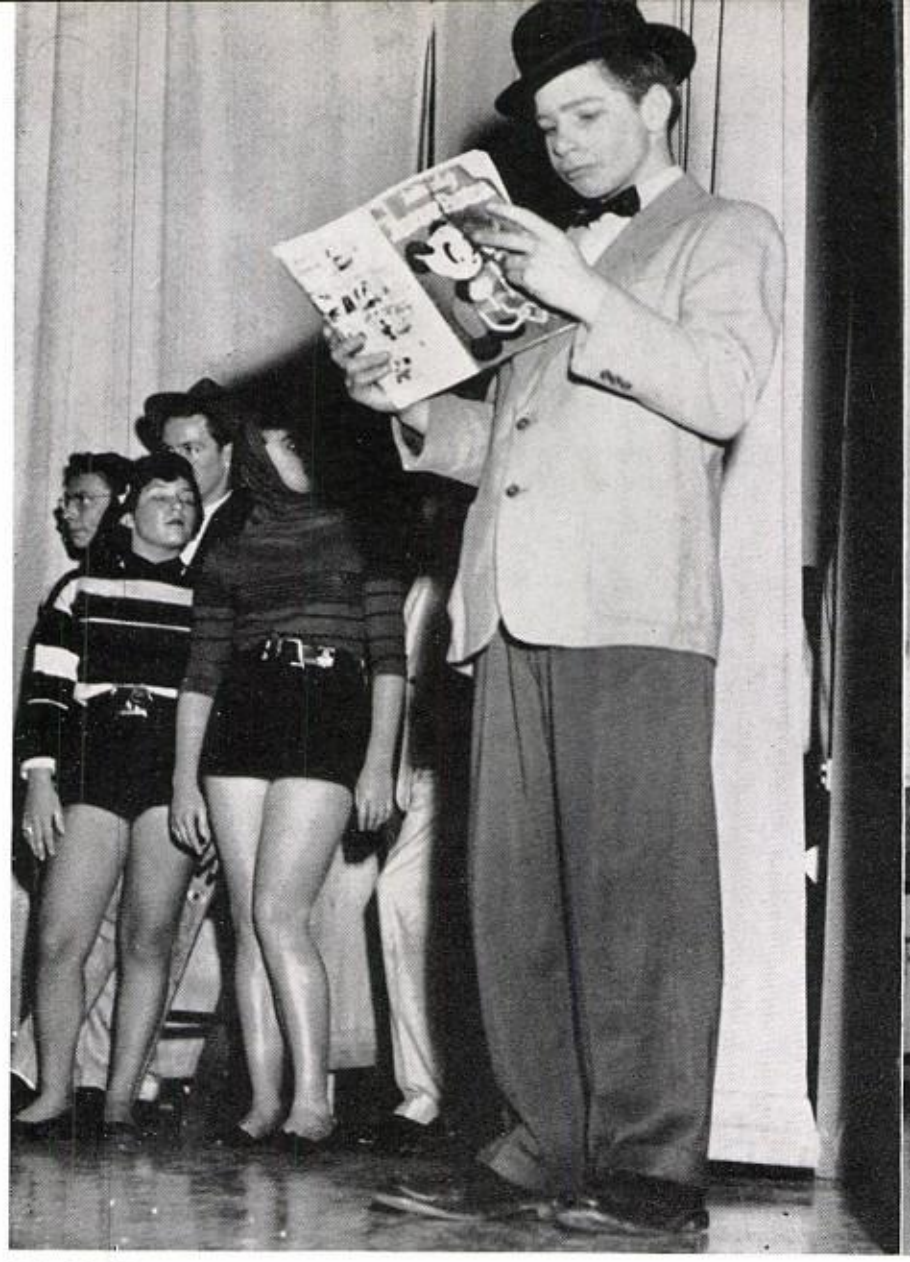
ROLLING IN DOUGH

"Million Dollar Follies" took roughly a million hours of work, for work began when the plot and theme were selected in the summer of 1956. Following the trend started with the 1956 talent show, "Navy Blues," the directors gave "Million Dollar Follies" a definite plot corresponding with and uniting the separate acts. The script was written in the fall, and tryouts for speaking parts and acts were held in early November.

Throughout the December and January rehearsals, the show gradually took shape under the supervision of Bob Lenz, student director, Steph Empkie and Ann Whiteley, co-chairmen, and faculty advisors Mr. Chad Lindner and Miss Martha Craig. In addition to numerous details which had to be arranged, there were tasks of selecting music, designing the set, painting scenery, and working out audio and visual problems which had to be solved before the directors could "get the show on the road."

When opening night came, the audience filled the girls' gym to pass the verdict on the result of months of effort. Chuck Peterson, a Broadway big shot J. R. Buckingham and Linda Clemens as his efficient and surprising secretary, with the help of a large supporting cast, played the character parts which helped to combine the various song, dance, and instrumental numbers and the four class skits into a unified, musical production. As the cast assembled for the finale, proclaiming "The best things in life are free," all were assured that one of these "best things in life" was the memory of the 1957 Talent Show.

An act of J. R. Buckingham's lavish production closes "Million Dollar Follies" with the proclamation "The best things in life are free."



Dale Hedberg doesn't mind waiting for his cue to go on stage, as long as he has Andy Panda comics to keep his mind active and alert.

"But J. R. old man, it's only money!" says Victor Swoon (Gene Freeman) as he pleads with Chuck Peterson for a change in script.

The Calypso craze that swept the country hit the Arlington stage with Janet Steil, Susi Lewis, Mimi Skatch, and Carol Holcomb.

JR. PROM PREVAILS

Suddenly it was spring—and the junior year was almost over. The Prom, a long-awaited event, was just around the corner. This night to remember climaxed the year's activities for the junior class.

Turning back the calendar to early fall, one could find juniors busy planning the first dance of the year — the Kick-off Dance. During football season juniors hawked popcorn and sold hotdogs in addition to operating booths and selling candy, cocoa, coffee, and coke. The object of all this: money for the prom!

An election theme urging voters to cast their ballots for "A" victory took third place among the Homecoming floats. Three junior homerooms combined their talents to produce this winning float.

Basketball season arrived, and sports followers again saw juniors in the stands and behind the counter selling popcorn, candy, and cokes, while fellow classmates followed the cheers of junior cheerleaders Marty Gatts and Vicki Mogren. The coke dance following the Glenbard game was another concession which added to the growing junior treasury.

It was the talent show, however, in which the juniors really shone. The class skit, a take-off on the Chez Paree, won first place—the third consecutive year that the class of '58 accomplished this feat.

Piloting the class through a sometimes hectic yet always eventful year were the junior class officers: president, John Peterson; vice president, Judie Fitz-Patrick; secretary, Karen Baker; and treasurer, Nancy Wichman.

"When in the Spanish Club do as the Spaniards do" seemed to be the motto of "Los Hidalgos," who practiced many Spanish customs. Spanish Club officers Sandy Bjorgo, president; Bill Sannwald, vice president; Arlene Schweigerdt, secretary; Toni Minetti, treasurer; and Miss Carol Duthie and Mr. James Curry, faculty advisors, planned club programs, which included games such as Spanish bingo, slides taken in Spain, a Spanish Carnival, and a Christmas fiesta, complete with traditional pinata.

The German Club, on the other hand, enjoyed doing things the German way. One of the main features of the year was a Christmas dinner composed of German food. At meetings slides were shown, and exchange student Dorothee Wopp gave first-hand information on Germany. In addition to these projects, sponsor Miss Delores Hudson and officers Lee Watson, president; Bonnie Quigley, veep; Dorothee Wopp, secretary; and Helga Pytlik, treasurer, were behind an exchange of letters between students of Germany and Arlington High School.

A visit to a French restaurant, movies about Paris, hors d'oeuvres a la Francaise, and a French fashion show were enjoyed by the French Club, Les Circles de Francais. Club activities were under the direction and guidance of Mr. Archambault, sponsor; Lorelei Byhring, president; John Mroz, vice-president; and Mimi McDonald, secretary.

Those whose taste ran more toward slaves, togas, consuls, and the like, joined the Latin Club. With the assistance of Miss Volz and Mr. Nielson the two consuls, Greg Wagner and Audrey Gronert; the scriba, Dianne Kowal; and the quaester, Jane Owen, conducted the Latin Club meetings in a typical Roman manner. At the early fall initiations and the Pan Language Banquet, new members served as slaves as part of the initiation proceedings.

Newspaper business managers Linda Mann and Carol Lunsmann, Mr. Martin, sponsor, and Judy Meyer, copy and exchange editor, discuss preparations for arrival of Arlington's Stork Club Junior dance.

Being up on the times is important! Arlington High's newspaper, the CARDINAL, kept AH students informed of timely events by publishing and distributing an edition every two weeks.

Seconds counted as the thirty staff members scurried about to collect news items, write copy, solicit ads, provide "heads" and captions, design the layout, revise copy, and take pictures. All these actions were tied together by editor-in-chief Gloria Boyland, news editor Susi Carter, business editors Carol Lunsmann and Linda Mann, feature editor Bob Siegel, sports editor Bill Hogate, and copy and exchange editor Judy Meyer. After the newspaper was printed at Paddock Publications, staff members distributed their product to seventh hour classes, where students received news of past, present, and future life at AH.

The winding and oiling of this clock-like organization was the job of faculty advisor, Mr. Martin, who conducted a journalism class, partially devoted to work on the CARDINAL.

In addition to publishing the paper, staff members devoted time and energy to work on the Stork Club Jr., held in the spring, and sent four delegates down to the campus of the University of Illinois in Champaign last October to attend the Illinois State High School Press Conference.

Even a touch of spring fever could not prevent the Cardinal editors Bob Siegel, Gloria Boyland, Bill Hogate, and Susi Carter from planning coming editions.

What is so rare as a day in June, when Heights editors Sheila Kutchera and Jean Edgcumbe can leave school with no yearbook worries?

Producing a yearbook is indeed not an easy job. The '57 HEIGHTS began to take shape in the spring and summer of 1956! A theme was chosen and developed by editor-in-chief Jean Edgcumbe, assistant editor Sheila Kutchera, copy editors Nancy Wilkinson and Carol Feige, and art editor Bob Lenz. Assisted by designer Joyce Mitchell, the editorial staff chose a cover for the forthcoming publication. Under the guidance of HEIGHTS sponsor Mr. Boesel, the business end of the project got under way as engraving, printing, and cover contracts were signed.

New members of the staff were informed of the yearbook theme early in the fall. Following this, they were launched in their new jobs, which included everything from typing to picture taking. "Remember the budget," was a constant phrase as staff members took part in selling campaigns and basketball concessions to raise funds.

Meanwhile, editors worked hard to meet the ever-present deadlines. Many nights after school found staff members and editors working under the watchful eyes of Mr. Boesel, Miss Jensen, Miss Katsoulis, or Mr. Curry to finish the writing of captions and headlines, or mounting pictures.

When the final deadline came on the first of April, the HEIGHTS staff thought "it was all over but the shouting," but they were wrong because next year's editors had been chosen and work had begun on the 1958 HEIGHTS!

SPRING: BASEBALL, TRACK, TENNIS, GOLF

Warm, balmy air, fresh green grass, soft, penetrating sunshine—what do these elements turn a young man's fancy towards? Arlington's "up and at 'em" athletes looked forward to the spring sports—baseball, track, golf, and tennis.

The solid whack of a hard hit ground ball, the soft plop of an outfielder shagging a long fly ball—Arlington's sluggers were ready to "play ball." Coaches of these three teams were Howard Lester, varsity; "Bus" Ormsbee, frosh-soph; and Frank Bohac, frosh.

Laps, laps, and more laps helped to condition Arlington's track squad for spring meets. Seeing that all the undermen were in top shape were coaches Russ Attis, varsity; Bob Scott, frosh-soph; and William Beckman, frosh.

"Fore!" was the cry of varsity and frosh-soph golf coaches "Tego" Larson and "Rusty" Dowell, as they hauled the hopeful duffers to Old Orchard Country Club for another practice round.

Also taking advantage of the warm, spring weather were the netmen, who were now known throughout the school as hard-hitting tennis enthusiasts, much to the joy of varsity and frosh-soph tennis coaches Ken Schaller and Righter Farris.

The 1957 spring sports season marked the end of two coaching careers at AHS. Varsity baseball coach Howard Lester led the Cardinal nine for the last time, for he has accepted a new counseling position. Also seen in the final coaching year was varsity golf mentor "Tego" Larson.

Never has there been closer co-operation between teammates as there is between Tom Thackery and Tom Thackery, often confusing opposing teams.

DIAMOND CUTTERS – VALUABLE AH GEMS

Over thirty diamond hopefuls greeted Coach Howard Lester at the initial baseball practice mid-way in March. Among these baseball aspirants were five returning lettermen, around which Arlington's 1957 varsity nine was built. Senior pitcher Bob Miller, author of several no-hit games in past seasons; senior third baseman and outfielder Pat Brownell; senior catcher Dan Vittum, one of Arlington's all-conference members last season; and junior shortstop Denny Thill formed Coach Lester's diamond nucleus.

Promising juniors up from last year's frosh-soph team were outfielders Ralph Wille, Ed Schumacher, and Guenther Reinke; shortstop Alan Hutchinson; pitcher John Oberg; and catcher Dick Nickelsen. Several transfer students and senior reserves from last year's squad also boosted the Cardinal hopes of improving on last season's third place WSC finish.

Frosh-soph baseball mentor "Bus" Ormsbee looked forward to a rebuilding season with the young Cards. Weakened by the loss of last year's starters—pitchers Dave Soenksen and Don Gerken, and outfielder Lee Magnuson—who were moved up to the varsity, little was known of the thirty-two hopefuls, and all positions were open.

The frosh-soph schedule included ten games, the first three being against Niles, Downers Grove, and La Grange.

Dan Vittum lets no grass grow under his feet as he makes that last great spurt to first base, (then second, then third, and then home?)

"He's got that go power." Slugger Pat Brownell, like friend dashing Dan, has ever-driving determination to make "first base or bust."

Arlington's growing interest in tennis during the past few years indicated a top flight team this season for varsity and frosh-soph coaches Kenneth Schaller and Righter Farris.

Good cause for an optimistic view of the oncoming season were three returning lettermen—Jim Mott and Don Stadelman, seniors, and Thurston Brown, junior. Another promising junior candidate was Tom Longwell, a regular on last season's squad.

The 1957 tennis schedule included over fourteen dual meets plus the conference, district, and state tournaments.

Eight lettermen returned to bolster the hopes of Arlington's 1957 track squads, led by varsity coaches Russell Attis and William Beckman and sophomore mentor Robert Scott. Included in the returning lettermen were two high jumpers, seniors Bill Palmer and Stan Norman, both of whom had already cleared six feet.

Seniors Carl Klehm and Jim Hoffmann were in their second varsity season throwing the discus and shot. Juniors Bob Mors, distance runner; Ed Wilson, pole vaulter; Bob Lockwood, sprinter and broad jumper; Jack Weber, weights and hurdles, completed the Cardinal list of competitors.

CARDINALS TEE OFF

Approximately fifty golf squad hopefuls were welcomed by varsity coach "Tego" Larsen and frosh-soph mentor "Rusty" Dowell. At the opening of golf practice in March, each squad was pared down to about 17 when qualifying scores determined the actual playing teams.

The team's chances seemed to be limited because of the return from last year's state champs of only one letterman, Tom Jacobsen, but the situation was eased somewhat by the promotion of ten linksmen from the frosh-soph conference champs of 1956.

Coach Dowell's frosh-soph linksmen played approximately the same schedule as the varsity boys, except the underclassmen were not entered in the district or state meets. They also participated in the Waukegan Tourney.

In addition to winning the state crown in 1956, Arlington golfers copped first place titles at the district and conference meets. They also set a national record of 281 in regular conference competition against La Grange, and their overall 20-1 set a record in Cardinal history.

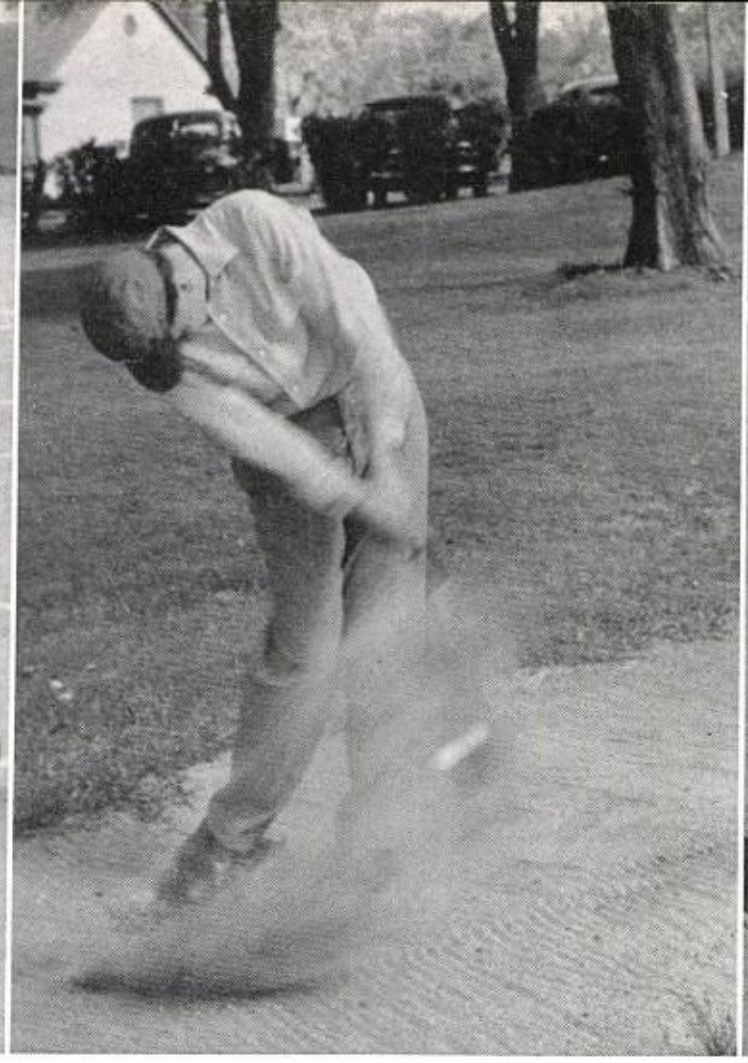
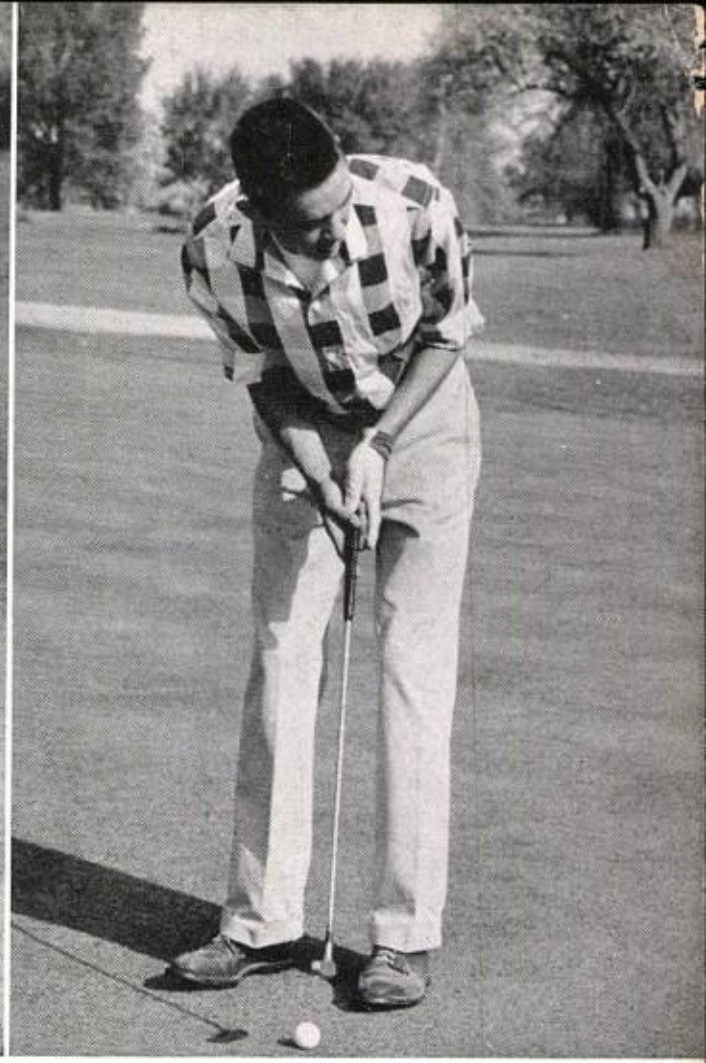
Swinging low, Don Stadelman lunges forward, slamming ball across the net.



Really "roughing it," John Murray stirs up a small sand storm as he slices out.

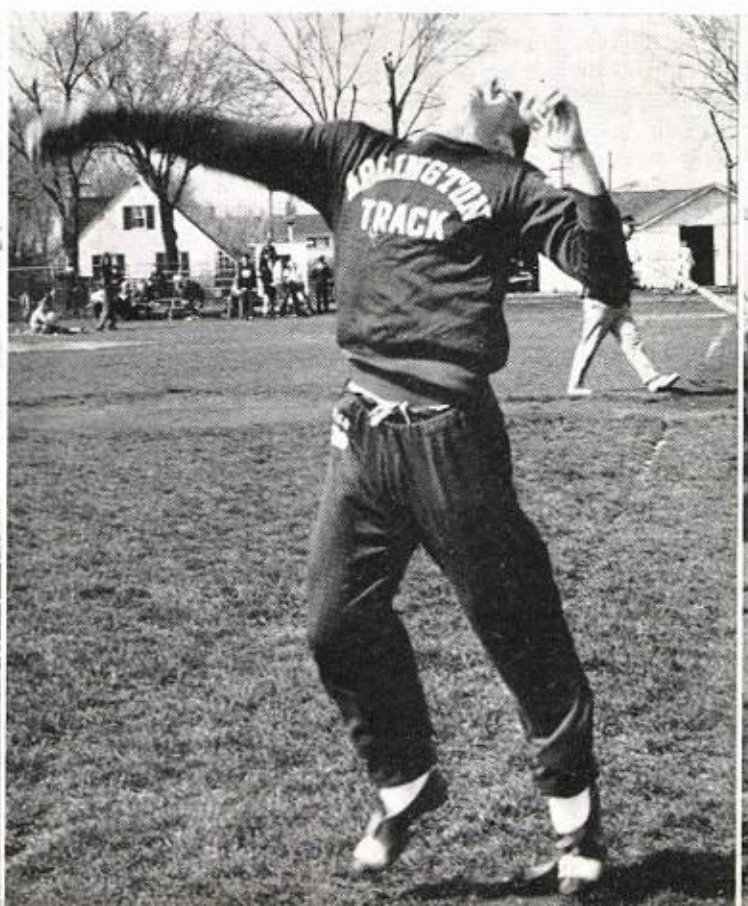


"How would Ben Hogan do it?" thinks Tom Jacobsen, surveying difficult putt.

YOUNG MEN'S FANCIES TURN TO SPORTS

Caught in the act, junior Ed Wilson defies law of gravity in a pole vault.

Putting the shot where it belongs, Jack Weber practices to set a school record.



Bill Palmer passes his "bar exam" successfully as he skims over a high jump.

When the class of '57 entered its last year, it inherited a long line of traditions. There were certain requirements in this will, that they as seniors had to meet.

The first big project of the year was the organization of the cafeteria board. With Sheila Kutchera at the head, the board soon took charge of their duties as monitors, helping to keep the cafeteria in order.

Soon the thrill of Homecoming descended upon the seniors. After three years it was their turn to rule over the festivities, and their own classmates, King Chuck and Queen Judy, were chosen to reign over Homecoming. A senior float outshone all others, taking a first place.

Starting off the winter social season, the seniors presented the Snowball. Anxiety, work, and fun were the ingredients for a successful Christmas dance.

After qualifying exams came a flurry of excitement. There were too many things to think of at one time—senior pictures, graduation announcements, final examinations, the Prom Queen, college, Baccalaureate, and finally, after four long years crammed with work and fun—graduation.

Six-thirty a.m.—To bed at last goes typical senior Gloria Boyland after completing a hard night of work on her English research paper.

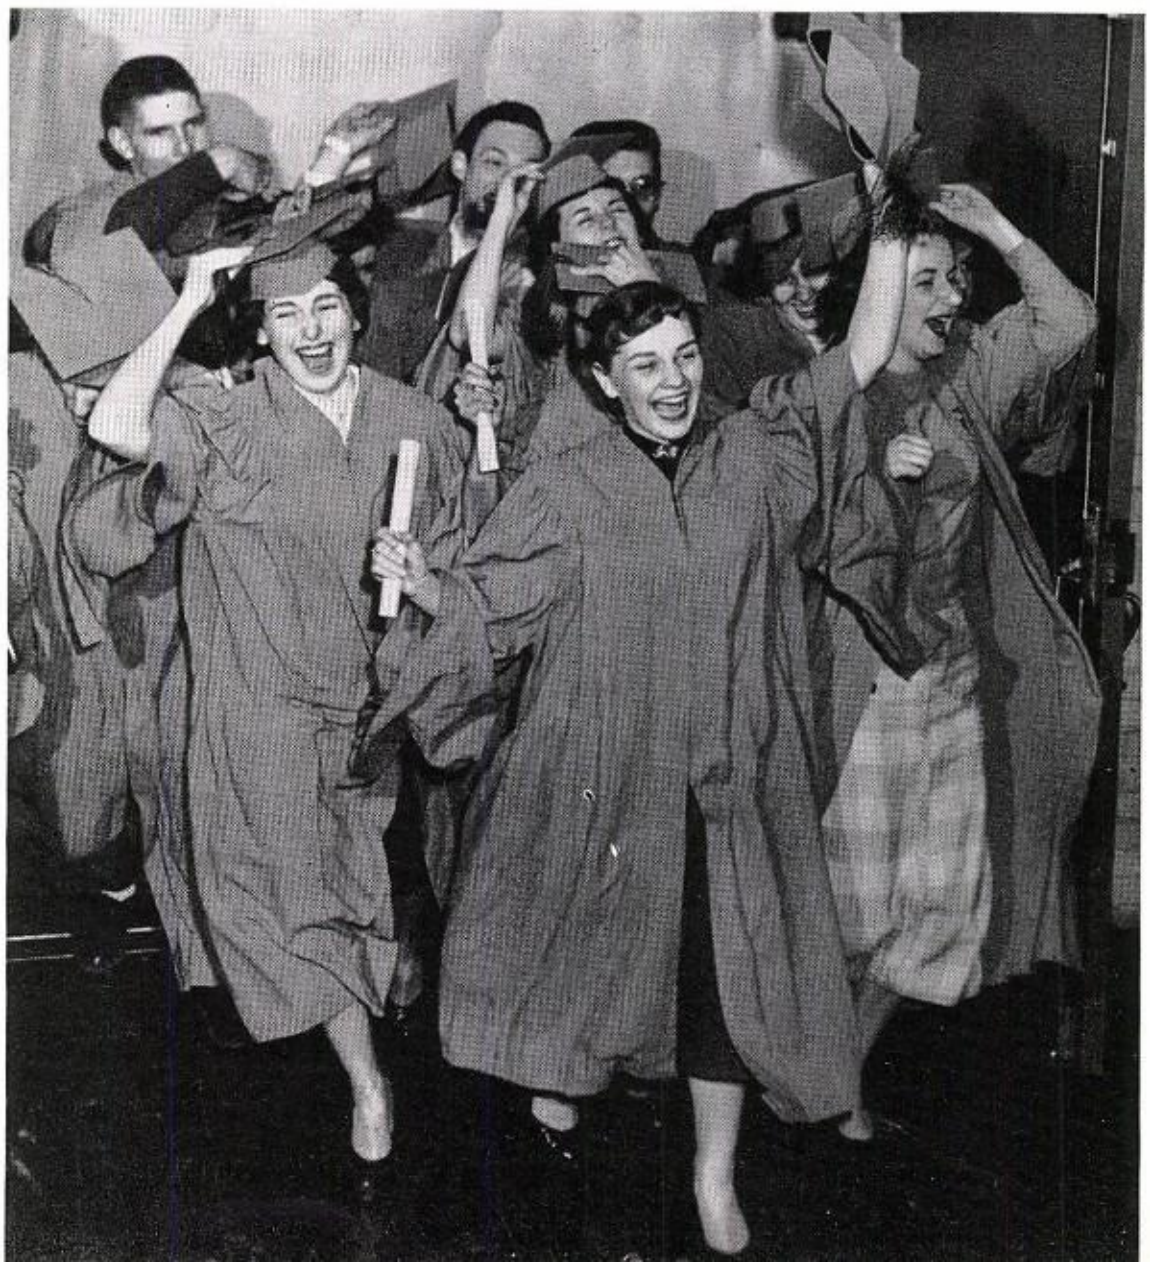
CLIMAX IN JUNE

"The seasons come, the seasons go, in colorful review," and as spring slowly turned into summer, the school year at Arlington drew to a close. The carefree mood of June took hold of AH, and the class of '57 came to the climax of four years of work and planning—graduation.

To the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, June brought the termination of another year's work and more time to do the things they somehow hadn't done in the past. For the seniors, this end was really only a beginning, for they were now prepared to go out on their own to ivy halls or ports of call.

When they donned their caps and gowns, the seniors bid farewell to school days at Arlington and took a final look at the brick building in which they had spent many of their happiest days. In reality they can never relive those days, but as each goes his way in the world, the memories of seasons past will remain, for these memories have become a part of the students who have lived them.

With an air of joy and sadness, seniors Betty Shulse, Alan Ragland, Gene Freeman, Avery Smith, Carole Finch sign their last HEIGHTS.



June, and they're busting out all over! The seasons have passed quickly for these seniors, who proclaim, "We made it!"

The Last Word —

As the saying goes, all good things must come to an end and this past year is no exception. With it comes many memories, some good and some discouraging. But now is a good time to pause and thank the many persons who contributed to the production of this yearbook—the '57 HEIGHTS.

Loud cheers are in order for one of the most cooperative staffs anyone has ever had to work with. They spent hours and hours of valuable time in the unheralded jobs of copy writing, filing, typing, etc. We are especially indebted to Carol Feige and Nancy Wilkinson who worked hard editing all the copy, captions, and headlines with a fresh and original style to meet the dreaded deadlines. Another indispensable member of the staff was art editor Bob Lenz, who in addition to creating the humorous sketches, gave us artistic advice in picture composition and layout design. We wish to extend words of appreciation to Joyce Mitchell for her art work, and especially for creating a cover design that adds spice and strengthens the theme of this book.

A hearty thanks goes to our faithful advisor Mr. Robert Boesel for his patience and helpfulness throughout the year. Without his knowledge and experience in yearbook production this book would not have been possible. Assisting Mr. Boesel were Mr. James Curry, Miss Pat Jensen, and Miss Kiki Katsoulis, who spent several evenings working with the staff.

It is said that a picture is worth a thousand words. Keeping this concept in mind, our photographer Mr. John Zubek heartily undertook the task of shooting the multitude of pictures. Thanks, too, to Mr. Zubek's employer, Mr. Don Knapp of Community Camera, for his friendly advice and helping hand.

Working behind the scenes were our printer, engraver, and cover producer. Compliments go to Paddock Publications for the splendid job they have done in the printing of this book, and especially to Mr. Lou Tanner for his technical advice in the art of yearbook layout and printing. Also rating high on our list of yearbook associates is Mr. William O'Conner of Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company. Mr. O'Conner was always ready with friendly help and advice whenever needed. The printer, the engraver, and the photographer, worked together to create the body of this book, while the cover designer, Mr. William Snell of S. K. Smith Company worked diligently to make an attractive cover to carry out the theme.

We realize that all the year's events cannot be captured in these pages, but we hope that we have effectively presented the highlights of the seasons.

The Editors

HEIGHTS editors Jean Edgcumbe and Sheila Kutchera gleefully cause utter confusion while throwing yearbook worries to next year's HEIGHTS staff.
